BUSY DAY PUT IN BY DEPARTMENT

First Alarm Came From Windsor Hotel Where Blaze in Roof Threatened to do Damage.

FRANK WALLACE BIG LOSER

Photograph Gallery Destroyed With Loss of $1500 Covered With $900 Insurance.

The fire department put in a busy day Sunday answering three alarms. The first came about ten-thirty o'clock yesterday morning when a blaze was discovered in the fourth floor of the Windsor hotel. The second came shortly before midnight when the department was called to the Wallace photograph gallery in West Second street. The third alarm came early this morning when fire again broke out in the gallery.

Of the two fires Frank Wallace suffered the heaviest loss although for a time the fire at the Windsor hotel looked to be serious. The fire at the hotel started from a small gas stove in the room on the fourth floor. The stove was left burning by the dining room girls, who resided on this floor. The floor under the stove was not protected and caught fire.

The stove burned a hole in the floor and the flames soon spread to other parts of the room. The fourth floor is directly under the roof and the blaze was hard to get at as it was necessary to chop large holes in the tin roofing. The fire was first discovered by Frank Wooster, who was passing by and noticed a large amount of smoke from the roof. He notified the clerk and the department was soon on the job. The fire was hard to fight and a large amount of water was thrown before the blaze was finally extinguished.

The greatest loss is from water. The water damaged several of the rooms and soaked through each floor until it flooded the office and hallway leading to the office and hallway leading to the entrance. S. W. Nicholas, the proprietor of the Windsor states that the loss is fully covered with insurance and it is thought that the damage will not not amount to over $500. It will be necessary to make extensive repairs to the roof and rafters as both were badly damaged. It was the first fire for the new chief Walter Easley and the manner in which he handled the fire received much favorable comment. The loss would have been very heavy but for the efficient work of the department.

The blaze at the Wallace photograph gallery, which is in the same block as the Windsor hotel, proved costly for Frank Wallace the owner. His loss is placed at $1,500 with $900 insurance. The origin of the fire is not known. It was first seen by Nightwatchman Sullivan and appeared at that time to be in the rear of the room. When the department arrived the flames were shooting up over the roof. Practically nothing was saved from the gallery and besides the loss from equipment Mr. Wallace lost negatives and plates which have no money value but which were held very high by him. He had negatives as old as sixty years and the collection could not be replaced with money. They were all lost, as was his cameras.

The blaze was thought to be out but it was necessary to call the fire department again before the blaze was finally extinguished. The second alarm came about three-thirty this morning. The blaze broke out again near the roof but it was

DIES WHILE HERE VISITING BROTHER

Mrs. Margaret Terry of Anderson Expires Sunday of Heart Disease at Louis Neutzenhelzer's Home.

TAKEN TO HER HOME TODAY

Mrs. Margaret Terry, age seventy years, of Anderson, died Sunday at the home of her brother, Louis Neutzenhelzer, in North Morgan street, while here on a visit, of heart disease. She had been in poor health for some time.

A post mortem revealed an unusual case. One of the arteries leading to the heart was enlarged and had pushed the heart out of place. This enlargement broke and death resulted.

Mrs. Terry was born and reared in Connersville. Her husband died twelve years ago. Besides her brother here, she is survived by four brothers and three sisters. She was one of a family of ten children, two of whom preceded her to the grave. A brief service, with the Rev. John B. Meacham of the First Presbyterian church in charge, was held this morning and the body was taken to Anderson over the Big Four at eleven o'clock for funeral services at the home of Mrs. Terry's sister, Mrs. Gertrude Kirsch, and burial.

WILL BE HERE TOMORROW

O. A. Charles' Representative Will Arrange For a Meeting.

Hal Minton, personal representative of Owen A. Charles of Muncie, "The Apostle of the Country Town," wired from Greensburg this afternoon that he would be here in the morning and that he would try to arrange an early meeting of Rushville citizens to consider the prospects for a commercial club.

CHARGED WITH STEALING HAY

Albert Fouty Arraigned Before Judge Megee and Entered Plea of Not Guilty.

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Court Found For Solomon Stewart in Sum of $1,500—Calender For Next Term Completed.

Albert Fouty, living southeast of the city, appeared before Judge Megee this morning and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of larceny. Fouty was indicted by the grand jury, October 31, 1913, charged with stealing two tons of hay from Jesse L. Hinton. He was never arrested and appeared of his own accord before Judge Megee. Fouty was released under $500 bond with Lien Oneal as security.

At the time the indictment was returned the sheriff could not locate him and the warrant for his arrest was never served. The warrant was turned over by C. L. Bebout when he retired from the sheriff's office to Voorhees Cavitt. He held the warrant this morning when Fouty appeared in court. Fouty is represented by George W. Young. The date for the trial has not been set.

Judge Megee found for the plaintiff, Solomon Stewart, in the case of Stewart against Thomas Tillison and Harry T. Harrell, to enforce a vendor's lien, demanding $1,500 with interest. The case was heard several weeks ago and after hearing additional evidence the court returned his finding. The judgment gives Stewart $1,500 and interest from July 1, 1913. The case was sent here from Shelby county on a change of venue.

The present term of court will end Saturday of this week according to the plans of Judge Megee. After one week's vacation the February term will start. The evidence showed that Jackson started the trouble and that Pea simply put him out of his office in West Third street.

RUSHVILLE GIRL IN LEADING ROLE

Miss Charlotte Sleeth is Playing Mary Turner in "Within The Law" Company.

SISTERS HERE WILL SEE HER

How She Achieved Brilliant Success and Played in Jane Cowl's Place is Interesting.

Marion Morton in "Within the Law."

This will be scrawled on the bill boards in cities through the south, up the Pacific coast through Canada the next few months.

What has that to do with Rushville, since Rushville is not in the south, along the Pacific coast or in Canada? Simply that Marion Morton is Miss Charlotte Sleeth of New York, a Rushville girl and sister of Miss Mary Sleeth and Miss Nora Sleeth of this city.

Miss Sleeth is playing the leading role, that of Mary Turner, in the eleventh company that is playing the typical American play, "Within the Law." She is at Portsmouth, Ohio, this week, the nearest she will be to Rushville while on tour, and the Misses Sleeth will go to Portsmouth Wednesday to see the show.

The story of how Miss Sleeth came to be playing the part of Mary Turner is very interesting. Miss Sleeth, as all her Rushville friends know, is a vocalist of ability. Last spring she booked a quartet for appearances during the summer, but because of throat trouble she was unable to take the company on tour.

In the fall she was offered the part of Sarah in a "Within the Law" company playing in the east and Canada. Miss Sleeth was also understudy of Miss Towers, who had the leading role. At New Haven one night Miss Towers grew ill and it was up to Miss Sleeth to play the part. She had not been through a rehearsal as Mary Turner for some time, but she came out with flying colors.

Arch Selwyn, the producer, wired to New York for one accustomed to playing the Mary Turner part. She arrived the next afternoon, but not in time for the matinee, and Miss Sleeth played it. The producer was in the audience. After the performance he told Miss Sleeth her act was so very fine that the other leading woman would be sent back to New York.

The company finished its trip and arrived back in New York just before the holidays. Then it was decided to organize another and Miss Sleeth, because of her excellent work when she filled in during the illness of Miss Towers, was selected to lead it.

The company rehearsed diligently for the first appearance the Tuesday before Christmas. As a compliment to Miss Sleeth, she was selected to play the Mary Turner role in Jane Cowl's place at the Elting theater in New York the night before the company left on tour. This is the first company playing the piece, and it has already established a record for length of engagement in New York. In the opinion of her friends, this compliment paid Miss Sleeth was the best expression of her brilliant success.

But as to the name, Marion Morton. It was sort of a wish on her. A couple of years ago, to favor a friend, Miss Sleeth had a singing role in "Three Twins" while her friend was away. The programs were made up before she arrived. She was given the name Marion Morton—and it has stuck.

PRETTY GIRL IS UNDER GRILL TODAY

Julia Falke, Age 15, is Suspected of Suggesting the Murder of Her Own Mother.

STEP-FATHER UNDER ARREST

(By United Press.)

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 19.—Suspected of suggesting that her own mother be shot to death, pretty fifteen-year-old Julia Flake is under a third degree here today and Robert Higgins, her step-father, is under arrest. Mrs. Flake-Higgins, wife of the prisoner, was killed January 5 by the accidental discharge of a gun he was cleaning, according to his story.

The prosecutor's theory is said to be that the girl was infatuated with her step-father and her mother discovered this, making a motive for a possible crime. A coroner's jury exonerated Higgins of all blame, but a sensation was uncovered last Monday when there was presented to the prosecutor letters alleged to have been written by the school girl to her step-father, suggesting that he kill her mother and receive part of the $7,000 estate.

MEDIATION MAY COME BY TONIGHT

Prospects of Settlement of Strike on Delaware & Hudson Railroad After Men Are Out a Day.

UNION WANTS 2 REINSTATED

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Mediation may come in the Delaware & Hudson railway strike by tonight. With one of the richest sections of the country standing still because of the tie-up of the railroad, the attorney of the federal board of mediation, Jean W. Hanger, reached here this afternoon after a conference with railroad officials in New York. He immediately went into conference with Martin Carey, vice-president of the conductors' union.

After the 5,000 men quit work this morning, D. & H. officials attempted to have the strike leaders withdraw the strike order, Superintendent John T. McGrew proposed that the union agree to arbitration. Martin Carey replied that the railroad had due notice that the strike would be called and that mediation would not be agreed on by the strikers until the railroad reinstated two employees. This would require an infraction of the safety rules.

DENIES BUSINESS HAS BEEN HURT

President Wilson Also Declares he Never Favored Allowing Railroads to Increase Rates.

HE AIRS SOME VIEWS TODAY

Admits Tacit Violation of Law in Adjustments Which Have Already Been Made.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Wilson today declared unfounded reports that business had suffered under the operation of the new tariff law. He told callers that the contrary was the case.

The President denied that he had told anyone he favored allowing the railroads to increase their rates. Explaining his attitude toward "big business" and the anti-trust law, the President admitted that in most of the adjustments there had been at least a tacit violation of the law, but he explained that the violation had been more of the spirit than the letter.

The attorney-general, while not attempting to evade the enforcement of the law, has tried to give corporations time to change their methods so they will not violate the law any more, the President declared.

MEETING POSTPONED.

The regular meeting of the Parent Teachers association of the high school, which was to have been held tomorrow night, has been postponed for a week because this is examination week in the high school and the teachers are busy, and in addition many persons on the program have other engagements.

Your Share Mr. Merchant!

Now, Mr. Local Dealer, here is some straight talk

This is the month in which many manufacturers are laying out their advertising plans for the coming year.

These plans naturally have for their object an increase of business. That manufacturer is going to spend his money where it is going to give him the best return.

One thing that will influence his plans is the extent to which dealers will co-operate in making local sales. That word co-operation does not mean sitting down and letting customers come, if they are willing. It means actively pushing the sale of goods advertised in their local newspapers by the manufacturers.

Now, why not let the manufacturers with whom you do business know that if they will help make business for you, you will help make business for them.

Tell them that if they will use the newspapers of your town to make known the merit of their goods you will let the public know that these goods can be had at your store.

Co-operate—and let your manufacturers know you are willing to do so. Share in the dollar harvest by acting now, when it is time to sow the seed.

His Modest Request.
A man once asked Thackeray to lend him 5 shillings, which he would convert into £20,000. Asked how, he explained that he knew a young woman with £20,000 who he knew would marry him if he asked her, but he had pawned his teeth and wanted 5 shillings to redeem them in order to propose effectively.

Two Kinds.
"That man who paid a fortune for a bogus rare book must be a very indignant bibliophile."
"Well," replied Miss Cayenne, "there are bibliophiles, and then there are what Josh Billings would have called 'bibliophools.'"—Washington Star.

History In July.

In at least four countries perhaps the most important event in their histories was recorded in July—namely, the establishment of their independence. In our own history we have the memorable Fourth of July, while the patriotic efforts of the liberator Simon Bolivar for the independence of Venezuela were consummated on July 5, Colombia ridding herself of the Spanish yoke on July 20. Then there is France, with her July 14, marking the date when the suffering French people stormed the famed and fearsome Bastille. The Spanish forces at Santiago, Cuba, capitulated on July 18.

Asking Him to Read the Future.

"I shall call upon a fortune teller this morning," said Mr. Blubb.
"Going to try to learn something about the future?" asked Mr. Wagles.

An Old Puzzle.

An excellent, if an old, puzzle is: How can a window having a height equal to its width be made twice as large without increasing its height or width?

Impossible! Oh, no! In the first instance it is shaped like a diamond; then it is changed to a square.

Keep on Fighting.

All work of man is as the swimmer's. A waste ocean threatens to devour him. If he front it not bravely it will keep its word. By incessant wise defiance of it, lusty rebuke and buffet of it, behold how it loyally supports him—bears him as its conqueror along!—Thomas Carlyle.

NEW REFORM IS TO BE TRIED OUT

Mutual Welfare League is Formed in New York State Prison at Auburn Sunday.

DELEGATES BOARD NAMED

Pledge Themselves "to Obey Cheerfully Rules and Regulations and Promote Good Feeling."

Auburn, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Sunday the formal installation of the board of delegates of the Mutual Welfare league in Auburn prison took place when forty-nine men elected by the fourteen hundred inmates took their oath of office. The event marked the first effort at reforming convicts from inside, and there were addresses by Thomas M. Osborne, chairman of the state prison commission; Judge H. J. McCann, chairman of the state parole board; Brigadier W. O. Hunter of the Salvation Army and George B. Stewart, president of Auburn Theological seminary. Telegrams encouraging the convicts in their new work were received from Governor Glynn and Superintendent of Prisons Riley.

Warden Rattigan administered the oath of office in which the convicts pledged themselves "cheerfully to obey the rules and regulations, to promote good feeling, good conduct and fair dealing between inmates and keepers."

In the women's prison Miss Madeline Z. Doty, a member of the state commission, who recently spent a short voluntary term in that institution unknown to the keepers or inmates in her true identity, introduced the new idea. She said:

"It is astonishing to find such a new spirit in not only the women's, but the men's prison. Where there used to be apathy there is now hope and genuine desire to reform, not only themselves, but to be of service to those who are headed toward prison. 'It is manifest in many little things. For example, now a girl is not only permitted, but is encouraged to say 'good morning' and to smile when she leaves her cell, where formerly she would be breaking a rule in doing this. A score of such repressions that destroyed individuality have been wiped away by the superintendent of state prisons, John B. Riley, and his enlightened and humane recommendations are being admirably carried out by Warden Rattigan and the new matron, Mrs. Margaret Daley."

VOLCANO'S TOLL OF DEATH

Loss of Life in Japan, It is Believed, Will Reach 7,000.

Kagoshima, Japan, Jan. 19.—That the list of dead from the volcanic eruptions and earthquakes will be enormous is the growing belief. Government experts agree that it is not improbable the list may reach as high as 7,000.
The property loss in this immediate vicinity alone is placed at not less than $5,000,000, and will be increased unless the volcano subsides soon.
Later eruptions and the earth tremors caused the collapse of a score of buildings which had survived the first shocks, and inhabitants who had returned here and were attempting to aid in rescue work fled in terror from the vicinity.

Sulzer Will Testify.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Former Governor William Sulzer, who has arrived here to take up his assembly duties, declared that he would shield no one when he is called as a witness next Friday before Chief Magistrate McAdoo in the John Doe proceedings in New York. He averred that the facts so far unearthed by District Attorney Whitman has but scratched the surface of the graft scandal and that United States Senator James A. O'Gorman will be a witness of great value in the investigation.

Railroad "Fires" Men For Drinking.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 19.—Railroad men were shocked when it was learned that 126 men employed on the Pittsburgh and Brownsville division of the Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Lake Erie road have been dismissed summarily. The charge in every case was drinking. While the company officials refused to discuss the case, it was learned that about 500 employees are to go for the same reason.

Trapped by a Decoy Letter.

Bloomfield, Ind., Jan. 19.—Post-office inspector Fletcher arrested Ernest Kidd, sixteen years old, on a charge of stealing mail. It is charged that the boy learned the combination of the lock box of the county clerk and stole letters containing money orders and money amounting to from $50 to $100. He was trapped by a "decoy" letter.

Mexico City, Jan. 19.—A battle is in progress about Matzahuala, where the rebels are concentrating, probably for the purpose of attacking San Luis Potosi. They number at least 3,000. General Mass's column of 2,000 men is marching to meet them.

The government denies that it intends to issue fiat money. The bankers here are forming a commission to co-operate with the government in its endeavors to improve the financial situation. Government officials say that some banks will reopen next week without waiting for the bank holiday to expire on March 1.

A Talk to Rushville Mothers About Croup and Cold Trouble

The New Treatment With Fresh Air and Antiseptic Vapors That Does Away With Injurious Internal Medicines, Flannel Jackets, Etc.

Every mother is the doctor when it comes to treating the annoying little cold troubles that all children are heir to. The only trouble is to know what really is the best thing to do.

Some mothers keep the children in doors and make them wear chest protectors and heavy flannels. This method deprives the children of the fresh air and exercise they need and the heavy clothing keeps the pores of the skin open and really makes them catch cold more easily.

A few mothers neglect these troubles entirely and this often leads, in after life, to chronic catarrh, weakened lungs, etc.

Most mothers keep on hand a formidable array of bottles and are usually dosing one or more of the children. This method is probably worse than the others as most cough medicines contain alcohol and some form of opium and are very injurious to the delicate stomachs of the little folks.

After all, colds are simply inflammations of the lining of the air passages just like sunburn and mosquito bites are inflammation of the skin. We don't dose the stomach to cure sunburn but have had to dose the stomach for colds because there has been no way of applying a direct application to the air passages, except the form of vapors. And while the old vapor lamps gave off the needed vapors, they required the room to be kept closed and hence kept out the all important fresh air. Pine tar from the south, menthol from Japan, camphor from the Isle of Formosa, and the oils of Thymol, eucalyptol, cubeb and juniper, are recognized as the best remedies for cold troubles. Druggists the world over have been seeking some cheap, convenient method of vaporizing these products without having to use the cumbersome vapor lamp.

A druggist in North Carolina discovered how to combine these products in a salve by a special process so that they were vaporized by the heat of the body when applied over the throat and chest. This patented process is the only secret about this new treatment which is known as Vicks Croup and Pneumonia Salve.

Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a little Vicks used occasionally will keep the children free from cold troubles no matter how much they are exposed. Croup really is relieved in 15 minutes. For all inflammations of air passages such as catarrh, bronchitis, tonsillitis, asthma, etc., this new treatment will be found remarkably successful. Simply apply Vicks well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

All the leading stores in Rushville are now agencies for the sale of this preparation and are given with each sale a refund slip that is good for your money back if Vicks is not found to be far better than internal medicines.

Vicks comes in three sizes—25c, 50c, and $1.00. The price is never cut.

Amusements

"The Sea Eternal" heads the feature attraction at the Portola tonight. It is a two-part Lubin drama and a story of the sea. The story was written by Arthur Johnson, who is seen in the picture along with Lottie Briscoe and an all-star cast. George Schmidt, the well-known baritone, will sing two selections tonight. On Thursday and Friday night, with matinee each day, the feature, "The Wife of Cain" will be shown. It is another of the Helen Gardner features and is in four reels. Helen Gardner was seen in "A Princess of Bagdad" at this theater two weeks ago, and the theater goers are assured of a fine production whenever she appears in a picture. On these same nights Miss Gardner will be shown in another four-reel feature, "A Sister of Carmen." These are her latest productions.

The Gem offers a two-reel production "The End of the Road" for the first part of the program tonight. It is a Victor drama and is a thrilling picture. The other is a western picture entitled "Western Hearts." Charles Raser, manager of the Gem, has secured a real treat for his patrons tomorrow night, when "Oliver Twist," as presented by the Famous Player Film Company, will be shown. The photo-play is taken from the story by Dickens and the part of Fagan is played by Nat C. Goodwin, the famous actor. This part has recently been acted by Goodwin in an all-star revival of "Oliver Twist" at the Amsterdam theater in New York. The picture is in five parts and tells the complete story. A matinee will be given Tuesday afternoon and the first show will start at 6:30 o'clock.

Society News

The Ladies Aid society of the St. Paul M. E. church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock by Mrs. James E. Miss Mary Walter Glover of Oklahoma City, who is visiting here, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. J. Frank Marshall in Columbus. The Columbus Republican says: One of the charming affairs of the week was the luncheon Saturday afternoon, given by Mrs. J. Frank Marshall, at her home on North Washington street, complimentary to her guest, Miss Mary Walter Glover of Oklahoma City.

All Health Bodies Should Combine to Be Effective

By JAMES L. WALLIS, President Association Food and Dairy Commissioners

THE pure food and drug movement is a brother to the SWAT THE FLY MOVEMENT, to the fight against woman and child labor which THREATEN OUR FUTURE GENERATIONS OF CITIZENS, to the proposals for the sanitary disposition of sewage and for the prevention of pollution of water supplies, to the quarantine and extinction of all contagious diseases from measles to bubonic plague. It is a branch of health work.

But at the present time there is no correlation, and that is essential. I don't care what you call it; whether you call it a national department of health, with an officer of it sitting in the cabinet, or not. Now we have separate clerks, separate laboratories, separate housing, with WASTE OF TIME, MONEY AND ENERGY and with the great loss of a broad, far seeing plan. There ought to be ONE ORGANIZATION FOR ALL THE HEALTH ACTIVITIES of the federal government, with similar organizations for the states.

AGREES TO GIVE UP THE BATTLE

Edward Beardsley, Who Held Posse at Bay Almost a Week, to Submit to Arrest Wednesday.

BROTHER TO TAKE CHILDREN

Photographers Who Were Admitted to Premises Say Children Were Not in Distress.

Jamestown, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Sunday afternoon your correspondent passed the cordon of sentinels posted by Sheriff Anderson a mile and a half from the home of Edward Beardsley, who since last Tuesday has stood off a sheriff's posse anxious to arrest him for shooting Overseer of the Poor John G. Putnam, and approached the Beardsley house. Beardsley, with his Winchester poked through a slit in the boards over the window, commanded a halt. Convinced that no harm was meant, he lowered his gun and invited the correspondent into the house, and for the first time since the shooting last Tuesday he conversed without covering his man with the gun. He said he would gladly make a statement to the press, and in response to a suggestion procured a sheet of writing paper, pen and ink and wrote a statement, in which he said:

"I wish to state the facts in the shooting of Poormaster Putnam. These people came to my house, Putnam and two sheriffs, with the subpoena to appear before Justice of the Peace Harry M. Young. These papers without the signature of the said justice of the peace and to show cause why said children should not be taken and put in a charity institution. My children had board, clothes and money in my pocket to buy more. Whereupon I felt it my duty to protect my home and family and children with my life. You fathers and mothers if you have a vacant place around the table, think of the one that is gone from you bringing the pang of sorrow. "Now what is life after your home is destroyed, be it ever so humble? My brother expects to take my children and take care of them and me to jail Wednesday next to await trial for shooting in the defense of my own home and little ones. Did I do right or not? Do unto me as you would have others do unto you is a motto we all love. I certainly knew nothing about this man Putnam being shot until they told me. So I need friends and assistance from those that believe in the protection of home and family. I need bail, if permitted to have bail. Good bye."

Beardsley's reference to Wednesday was in regard to an agreement which he had made earlier Sunday with three of his brothers and his lawyer. This agreement only was reached when he was fully convinced that his brother would be permitted to take charge of the children. Beardsley stipulated that the grandmother, who is at Youngsville, Pa., be sent for to prepare the children for their journey to Titusville. This was agreed to.

Before the talk with Beardsley was finished a group of probably fifty had gathered in the roadway opposite the house. The crowd clamored for a sight of the man. "There are no deputies here," said one. Beardsley, grasping his Winchester with one hand, unfastened the door with the other and stood for a few moments in the doorway.

"Are there any cameras in the crowd?" he asked. "If there is I would like to have someone photograph these children, just to show that they are not suffering."

The children grouped about him as he spoke. They were plump and rosy-cheeked and playful. One of them held in her hands a big white rabbit. "We've got two white rabbits and two black ones," she volunteered, shyly.

Beardsley got his first newspaper Sunday morning and read it carefully. He pointed out paragraphs which he said were untrue.

There is some legal question as to whether the authorities had complied with all the provisions of the law for taking possession of the children at the time the poormaster and sheriff's officers went there last Tuesday.

In the interview with the correspondent Beardsley said only four of the children were his. The woman who claims to be his wife is in May

Contributory Plan Best to Pension Government Employees

By LINDLEY M. GARRISON,
Secretary of War

I FEEL quite sure that it is practicable to save the government money and to benefit the government service by establishing a retirement system. I do not believe, however, that there is any possibility of such a system being provided for in the near future by any measure that will CALL FOR LARGER APPROPRIATIONS from the federal treasury than would be required to pay the annuities for those now in the service—that is, the entire annuity of all those who are now seventy years of age or over and part of the annuity of all others now in the service who shall remain therein until THEY REACH SEVENTY YEARS OF AGE, and I think it wise that the maximum annuity of which the government pays any part should be fixed at ONE-HALF THE ANNUAL SALARY for employees with average salary of twelve hundred dollars or less and at six hundred dollars for those whose annual salary exceeds twelve hundred dollars.

ALL PERSONS WHO ACCEPT EMPLOYMENT UNDER THE FEDERAL CIVIL SERVICE AFTER THE PASSAGE OF A RETIREMENT ACT SHOULD DO SO UNDER PROVISIONS OF LAW WHICH WOULD COMPEL THE ACCUMULATION OF A FUND DERIVED FROM MONTHLY DEDUCTIONS FROM THEIR SALARIES THAT WOULD MAKE IT HUMANELY POSSIBLE FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO RETIRE THEM AT SEVENTY YEARS OF AGE OR BEFORE THAT AGE SHOULD SUPERANNUATION OR OTHER DISABILITY REQUIRE IT.

Under the contributory plan an employee after a considerable length of service would receive periodically from the fund accumulated by his contributions a sum sufficient to KEEP HIM FROM ACTUAL WANT, whereas under the straight pension plan he cannot derive any benefit from the pension until he reaches the prescribed age. In other words, under the straight pension plan there would be almost the same situation that confronts us now—namely, the retention in the service, through considerations of humanity, of persons who have become incapacitated for efficient service.

Saving of Individual More Important Than Reform

By Rev. WILLIAM RADER of San Francisco

DURING my life I have spent considerable time in the effort to reform evil conditions, but if I were to live it over I would not give so much time to reform as to the redemption of men.

IF YOU CHANGE THE SKIN OF A RATTLESNAKE YOU DO NOT CHANGE HIS NATURE, BUT ONLY MAKE HIM THE MORE DANGEROUS. MANY CHANGES HAVE BEEN EFFECTED IN THE ADMINISTRATIONS OF AMERICAN CITIES, BUT AFTER THE BATTLES AT THE ELECTIONS HAVE BEEN ENDED WE ARE CONFRONTED AGAIN WITH THE SAME EVILS AS BEFORE. EVENTUALLY WE SHALL FIND THAT ANY GOVERNMENT IS A GOOD GOVERNMENT TO LIVE UNDER IF IT BE COMPOSED OF GOOD MEN.

The making of character is a serious matter. It means bitterness and struggle. A man is NOT MADE AT TWENTY. More men FAIL IN THEIR FORTIES. There are more wrecks made during the middle years than at any other period. There is no quick growth in the making of a man. There is encouragement, too, for the man caught in the NET OF HEREDITY AND ENVIRONMENT. Religion is stronger than either, and in religion he will find his salvation.

No man need be discouraged. In the making of a man there need be no special emphasis placed on thought of theological adjustment to life. I have found MORE ORTHODOXY IN THE PENITENTIARY THAN IN THE CHURCHES. It is quite possible for a man to be sound in his doctrines and all wrong in his life.

Hostile Critics Lament Decay of Scholarly Ideals

By Dr. HENRY LOUIS SMITH, President of Washington and Lee University

THE German-American university has now become the home of scholarship and research, the professional schools are steadily encroaching upon the four years' college period from above, and the American public high school, with marvelous growth and limitless resources, is absorbing the freshman and sophomore years from below.

MEANWHILE A CEASELESS STREAM OF HOSTILE CRITICS LAMENT THE DECAY OF SCHOLARLY IDEALS, THE IDLENESS AND DEGRADING VICES OF THE CAMPUS, THE DOMINANCE OF ATHLETIC AND SOCIAL ACTIVITIES AND THE HOPELESS ANTAGONISM BETWEEN THE IDEALS AND HERO WORSHIP OF THE STUDENT BODY AND THE OFFICIAL BESTOWMENT OF COLLEGE HONORS BY THE FACULTY.

Terre Haute Grand Jury Yet to Reach Conclusions on Recent Municipal Election.

MAYOR ROBERTS IS INDICTED

32,641 Children Returned to School in Indiana Last Year by Truant Officers.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 19.—On charges of bribery, conspiracy to commit fraud and stuffing ballot boxes, the special grand jury has returned indictments against Mayor Donn M. Roberts. All of the indictments are based on Roberts's alleged actions during the campaign and election of 1912.

Roberts offered bond in the sum of $8,000, which was accepted. He would talk to no one of his indictment.

Two of the indictments charge Mayor Roberts with bribery in connection with Maurice (Cotton) Chase. Chase served as registration inspector in one of the tenderloin precincts on the registration board in 1912 and the indictments charge Roberts with having paid Chase $50 to be allowed to place 300 fictitious names on the precinct registry. Two other similar indictments were returned against Roberts in conjunction with Andrew Berkeley, registration inspector of the Taylorville precinct in 1912. They charge Roberts with having paid Berkeley the sum of $25. Two other indictments charged Roberts with conspiracy to commit fraud, and name Chase in conjunction.

The investigation by the special grand jury, on which the indictments against Roberts were based, was all of the presidential election in 1912. The special body of inquisitors, while making inquiry into the conduct of the municipal election last fall, has not yet reached conclusions regarding it. The news of the indictments and the subsequent arrest of Roberts created surprise here. Many citizens expected that indictments would be returned, but that they would come so soon and in such a number was a surprise to all.

TRUANCY LAW ACTIVITIES

More Than 32,000 Children Returned to School Last Year.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—The activities of the 109 truant officers of the state resulted in 32,641 children being returned to school last year.

The reports received by the state board of truancy show a total of 17,559 days spent in the service, 80,883 visits made and that it was necessary to provide aid for 7,749 children. The cases investigated in Marion county numbered 15,110.

Considering the large number of children reached, the number of prosecutions was small. Two hundred and seventy-three cases were brought into court, and of this number 237 were decided in favor of the truant officers and thirty-six in favor of the parents or guardians.

For the administration of the law the various counties and cities spent $58,573.67, of which $35,859.20 was for salaries and $22,714.47 for aid to children. The average expense for each child brought into school was $1.10. The cost of books and clothing supplied needy children averaged $2.93 for each child aided.

A Mistrial Not Unlikely.

Madison, Ind., Jan. 19.—The general character of the testimony introduced by the prosecution in the Grimes murder case does not seem to impress the public as strong enough to warrant a verdict against the son for killing his father. A disagreement of the jury is not improbable. About half the witnesses have thus far been examined.

Live Stock Perishes in Flames.

Wabash, Ind., Jan. 19.—Several head of horses and forty hogs were cremated and an automobile, farming implements and feed amounting to $4,000 were destroyed near here when a barn owned by Hugh and Guy Barnhart was burned.

Indianapolis Poolroom Raided.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—Six men were arrested charged with operating horse race poolrooms, following an investigation which disclosed, detectives say, that a branch of the Mont Tennes gambling syndicate of Chicago is in operation here.

discovered in time and no further damage resulted. The building is owned by Walter E. Smith, and is fully insured. Fred Gale, who conducts a pool room directly under the Wallace galleries suffered heavily from water that ran down through from the upstairs.

When the alarm was sounded for the Wallace fire some one thoughtlessly told the clerk at the Windsor that the building was on fire again and he sounded an alarm in all the halls of the hotel. The people there after going through one fire naturally were on edge and the house was emptied in very short order.

Another fire almost resulted last night about ten o'clock at the Krammer building in North Morgan street. The blaze was found in time and the department was not called. A rubber to a stove in the office of Dr. J. B. Kinsinger became unfastened and when found the carpet was on fire and the blaze was making great headway. It was found by George Puntney.

SOME HOPE FOR THE BACKSLIDER

Rev. A. W. Jamieson Says Restored one May be of Great Service in Christian Work.

PREACH 2 SERMONS SUNDAY

United Presbyterians Rally to Support of Their Pastor Who is Holding a Revival.

The congregation of the United Presbyterian church has rallied to the support of the revival meeting in progress there under the leadership of the pastor, the Rev. A. W. Jamieson. The schedule of meetings will be held as announced.

Two large audiences greeted Dr. Jamieson yesterday. Today no meetings were held, but the regular preaching services will take place. Beginning tomorrow, the regular program will be followed, with morning prayer meetings, after afternoon Bible study and evening services.

Prayer meetings will be held tomorrow morning at ten o'clock with Mrs. Wolfe in North Oliver street, Mrs. Mary Wilson at the corner of Perkins and Tenth street, Mrs. Harry Trabue at 728 North Perkins street and Mrs. Hunter in South Pearl street. The last named meeting will be at 9:30.

Sunday morning the pastor preached on "Backsliding." He showed from the Bible that a converted person may "backslide;" that God pleads with the "backslider" to return and that a restored "backslider" may be wonderfully useful in God's service.

At last night's sermon the text was taken from Luke, 9:51, "Lord, I will follow thee, but—" Then the Rev. Mr. Jamieson gave some of the most used reasons for not following the Lord. One man would follow Jesus, he said, but he wanted good financial standing. Another man would follow Him, but he wanted to wait until his father was dead and buried, the pastor declared. Still another man wanted to follow Him, but he wanted the consent of home folks, the Rev. Mr. Jamieson added.

"Jesus revealed himself to all three as Lord," concluded the minister. "He dictates terms of discipleship. His accepted followers come without any compromises. After Christ is accepted, His providence and grace enables us to settle all questions aright."

FACED A FOREIGN FLAG.

A British Seaman's Prank That Enraged the Brazilians.

The harbor of Rio de Janeiro is one of the wonders of the world. You enter a narrow strait guarded by a towering conical mountain and discover a glorious inland sea surrounded on every side by abrupt and precipitous mountains, many of them with the most fantastic outlines. I should imagine, says the Hon. Stephen Cole-ridge in "Memories," that all the fleets of the world might anchor there in safety.

In the early seventies a couple of English bluejackets in search of adventure climbed to the top of the mountain that guards the entrance, hauled after them a flagstaff and a union jack, set up the pole on the summit and unfurled the flag to the breeze.

The astounded and indignant Brazilians awoke one morning to find an alien bunting flying over their territory from its most conspicuous eminence. Protests were lodged with the English minister, who, with the utmost politeness, apologized for the thoughtless escapade of some entirely unknown persons and gravely told the Brazilian government that of course he would have no possible objection to the prompt removal of the flag and pole. The emperor, however, could find no subject in all his wide empire who would volunteer to make the ascent to the summit of the mountain, which the people of Rio de Janeiro considered unscalable.

In this embarrassing dilemma the Brazilian government determined to knock over the staff by shooting at it. The Brazilian fleet was ordered to shoot the offending pole off the top of the mountain. Either they could not train their guns to the required angle of elevation or the target was too narrow for a successful shot. At any rate, the English flag flying over the proud Brazilian city remained, braving the battle and the breeze, till it rotted

PLEADS FOR MORE RADIUM

Dr. Howard Kelley of Baltimore Before House Committee at Public Hearing Today.

FACTORY IS TO BE ERECTED

Bureau of Mines Will Extract the Precious Metal From Carnolite Ore, it is Planned.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 19.—The wail of seventy-five thousand sufferers from cancer pleading for more radium was heard in the House mines committee room today.

It was a public hearing on a bill for the reservation by the government for the people of all lands containing radium-bearing ore. Dr. Howard Kelley of Baltimore told in graphic sentences how sufferers are crying "Give us more radium."

"Surgery has been our largest help," said Dr. Kelley, "Radium is curing a certain percentage, but we need more radium for investigation."

Dr. Kelley announced that he was planning to erect a factory in Denver to the extract the radium for carnolite ore to be worked by the bureau of mines. He promised to donate his practice to the government. The high prices of radium, he said, is due in part to the action of foreigners.

DISAPPEARANCE WILL STAY MYSTERY

Every Foot of Bay is Dragged and Still No Trace of Lost Submarine is Found.

DIVER MAY BE IN QUICKSAND

(By United Press.)

Plymouth, Eng., Jan. 19.—The disappearance of the submarine "A-7" and her eleven men was still a mystery today. All during the three days of the search every foot of the bottom of the bay and channels has been dragged and nothing has been found. This gave rise to the theory that quicksand has engulfed the diver. There is known to be quicksand there.

Relatives of the lost men have been on the scene since the first alarm and have refused to leave. Women relatives of the men have come from various parts of England. Naval officers fear the disappearance of "A-7" will be one of the unsolved mysteries of the sea.

A CLOSED LAND OF HIDDEN DANGERS

Only Two Americans Allowed to Dwell In Afghanistan.

LIFE THERE IS A GAMBLE.

Upon Obtaining a Permit the Traveler Is Warned That He Enters at His Own Individual Responsibility. Be-nighted Country Where Christianity Is Punishable by Death.

A report on industrial and living conditions in Afghanistan, which a Christian enters on pain of death, has been made to the department of commerce by United States Consul Henry D. Baker, on special commercial service in the far east.

Mr. Baker calls Afghanistan the buffer state between British India and the Russian possessions in Asia. It has an area of 200,000 square miles and a population estimated at 5,000,000, though no census has ever been taken. Its inhabitants are without exception Mohammedans, and, save only Tibet, it is the largest closed country in the world, presenting the anachronism of a nation in the twentieth century which forbids the entrance into its territory of the foreign missionaries either of religion or commerce, as well as making the profession of Christianity among its subjects punishable by death.

"If any person particularly wishes to visit Afghanistan he can get into the country only by interesting the ameer personally in the object of his visit, which, however, it may be found very difficult to do," Mr. Baker says. "No commercial traveler can get into Afghanistan unless the ameer might be induced to take an interest in his particular line of business. Even then it would not be found convenient or advantageous to undertake a trip into Afghanistan unless the ameer would personally guarantee one's comfort and safety and provide a military escort to Kabul or Kandahar or wherever else it was desired to go.

Must Go at Own Risk.

"After application has been made to the ameer for a permit, or firman, to visit Afghanistan—and by having advanced some particularly potent argument the firman may perhaps be granted—the deputy secretary to the government of India in the foreign department, if he deems it wise, will then grant permission to cross the frontier at the traveler's own risk.

"A regulation letter granting such permission to a representative of a business house in Bombay, of which I have a copy, reads as follows:

With reference to your letter dated — I am directed to inform you that the honorable chief commissioner and agent to the governor general in the northwest frontier province is being directed to allow Mr. — of your firm to cross the frontier, subject to the production by him of his majesty the ameer's firman and the political agent in the Khyber pass being satisfied that the Afghan government has made arrangements for Mr. —'s escort and transport.

I am to add that the government of India accepts no responsibility whatever in connection with the object of Mr. —'s journey to or stay in Afghanistan and that he proceeds there at his own risk.

Few Foreigners There.

"About the only instances in which Europeans or Americans have ever been allowed to travel into Afghanistan is when machinery or other articles have been required by the ameer to his government or special medical assistance needed at the court. At present there are understood to be six Europeans and two Americans residing in the country."

Mr. Baker refers to the late Dr. T. L. Pennell, an English medical missionary, as having been the best authority on the frontier tribesmen of Afghanistan. He gained their confidence and esteem after years of effort, but the relations between the frontiersmen and the English generally are far from cordial.

STATES TO TEACH SAFETY.

Make It Part of School Course to Learn to Guard One's Life.

Two states in the middle west (Wisconsin and North Dakota), as well as one in the east (New Jersey), are embarking on plans to teach safety in the schools. Wisconsin and New Jersey have passed laws whereby safety is made a required course of study for school children, and textbooks will be used to enforce the lessons.

In North Dakota Mrs. J. E. Stevens of Grand Forks, who has been lecturing on tuberculosis throughout the state, is also urging a campaign of "watchfulness and carefulness" in an endeavor to decrease the number of accidental deaths.

"If we are going to have anything like safety for our people," says Mrs. Stevens, "it rests with the parents and the schools of our country. Until obedience and carefulness are inculcated into every generation, until 'learn to-day' is the first lesson of childhood, it is useless to expect children and adults to heed the signs 'Keep Off the Track,' 'Look Out For the Cars,' 'Mind Where You Step' and 'Railroad Property.'"

"Not only should the railroads take up a campaign of education in watchfulness and carefulness among their employees, but public authorities, beginning with teachers in the schools, should instill in the public mind the 'stop, look, listen,' habit at every point of danger."

RUSHVILLE HAS 2 GAMES THIS WEEK

Hopes to Defeat Carthage High School Five Here and Connersville at Connersville.

SPECIAL CAR MAY BE TAKEN

The Rushville basketball team has two games scheduled for this week, and the team has hopes of recovering from its defeat at Shelbyville last Friday night and coming back with both games under its belt. The first game will be played here Friday night with the Carthage high school team and the second, Saturday night at Connersville with the high school five there.

Rushville defeated Carthage on the latter's floor, but the "Quakers" put up some stiff opposition. Not because Carthage is considered a weak opponent, but because the team managers hope to attract more high school pupils, it has been decided to admit all high school pupils for fifteen cents Friday night. If the crowd warrants the price may be continued, and if the team more than makes the expenses, the general admission will be reduced to fifteen cents. An effort will be made to get a special car for the Connersville game.

The new stallion has won prizes at the international show in Chicago and at the Indiana State fair. The horse is dapple gray in color.

Nineteen of Transfers Are For 1. & C. Right-of-Way. 150 Acres Brings $20,205.

The real estate business in Rush county set new records for the first half of January when fifty-two transfers were recorded and the combined sales of the land, excluding deals where the consideration was not given, amounted to $74,545.75.

LORD STRATHCONA

THE LATEST THING IN THE SOUL MATE STUFF
Married Preacher Takes One to Give Him "Spirituality."

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—Rev. J. W. Foster, a prominent Baptist minister of Atlanta, arrested on a charge of maintaining Mrs. J. W. Deane, a pretty young woman, as his "soul mate," admitted the charge, and said that his liaison with the woman had made him a more spiritual preacher.

"My wife is to blame for all this," said Foster. "She was unsympathetic and was no help to my ministry. I met Mrs. Deane and found her to be my real soul mate. Since meeting her I have been a better man and better preacher. I have done nothing that I am ashamed of."

"My husband is seeking a divorce, and Dr. Foster tells me he will get one," said Mrs. Deane. "It is our intention to marry and thereby avoid a scandal."

Rev. Mr. Foster came here two years ago from Waco, Tex., and Mrs. Deane came soon after. Their liaison began in Texas. Foster maintained Mrs. Deane in a house within a stone's throw of his church and within two blocks of the residence where he maintained the real Mrs. Foster and her seven children.

NEW LINE OF INVESTIGATION
Senate Committee Will Look Into the Question of Enticing "Ads."

Washington, Jan. 19.—Testimony that the Canadian government had been paying for the circulation of news articles in "patented insides" of newspapers to induce Americans to go to Canada has led the senate lobby committee off on a new line of investigation. The statement of the action of the Canadian government was made by Courtland Smith of New York, president of the American Press Association. The commission decided to call on George Joslyn, president of the Western Newspaper Union of Omaha, Neb.

Smith declared he had positive knowledge that the Canadian government paid from $100,000 to $200,000 a year to the Western Newspaper Union for the circulation of matter purporting to be news articles which misrepresented conditions in Canada, and induced some 300,000 Americans across the border. He said he had declined to handle the Canadian matter.

New Albany Man Kills Wife.
New Albany, Ind., Jan. 19.—After finding his wife in conversation with another man on the street, William Schray followed her to her parents' home, where, according to his own story, he beat her brains out with an iron pipe and cut her throat, almost severing her head from her body. Schray is in jail. He is a former convict.

REAPING BENEFIT
From the Experience of Rushville People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Rushville residents on the following subject will interest the benefit many of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

E. L. Hinkle, 641 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "In 1900 I was on the verge of Bright's disease I had sharp pains in my back and was hardly able to walk. I couldn't rest well. A friend who had been benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills recommended them and I got a supply. I soon found that they were helping me and I continued using them until I was cured. I am glad to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hinkle had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

CHAPTER XXIV.

A Question and the Answer.

IN all their married life Edith Cortlandt had never known her husband to show such stubborn force. Failing to dominate him as usual, she was filled with a strange feeling of helplessness and terror.

"You had no right to accept such evidence," she stormed.

"Bah! Why try to fool me? I have your own words for it. The other afternoon I came home sick—with my head, I was on the gallery outside when you were pleading with him, and I heard it all. But he was growing tired of you. That, you know, makes it all the more effective." He smiled in an agonized fury.

"You—cur!" she cried, with the fury of one beating a rebarbed at a barred door. "You had no right to do such a thing even if I were guilty."

"Right. Aren't you my wife?" The look she gave him was heavy with loathing. "That means nothing with us. I never loved you, and you know it. You never could have succeeded without me. All you have is due to me—even your reputation in the service. Your success, your influence, it is all mine. The debt is all on your side, as you and I and all the world know."

"Who made me a manikin?" he demanded, with womanish fury, a fury that had been striving for utterance these many years. I had ambitions and hopes and ability once—not much perhaps, but enough—before you married me. I was nothing great, but I was getting along. I had confidence, too, but you took it away from me. You—you absorbed me. You had your father's brain, and it was too big for me. It overshadowed mine. In a way you were a vampire, for what I had you drained me of. But tonight, when he got up before those other men and dangled my shame before my eyes, I had enough manhood left in me to strike back. Thank God for that at least! Maybe it's not too late yet for me to be a man. Maybe if I get away from you and try—His voice died out weakly. In his face there was a miserable half gleam of hope.

"I never knew you felt like that. I never knew you could feel that way," she said in a colorless voice. "But you made a terrible mistake."

"Do you mean to say you don't love him?"

"No, I have loved him for a long time. I can't remember when it began." She spoke very listlessly, looking past him as if at a long familiar picture which she was tired of contemplating. "I never knew what love was before; I never even dreamed. I'd give my life right now to undo what you have done, just for his sake, for he is innocent. Oh, don't sneer; it's true. He loves the Garavel girl and wants to marry her. I'm going to tell you the whole truth now without sparing myself. It began, I think, at Tagoga, that night when he kissed me. It was the only time he ever did such a thing. It was dark, we were alone, I was frightened, and it was purely impulse on his part. But it woke me up, and all at once I knew how much he meant to me. When I discovered that he cared for that girl—well, if you overheard you must know. I frightened Garavel into dismissing him, and I set out to break him, just to show him that he needed me. Tonight he scorned me. That's the truth, Stephen. If we believed in oaths I would swear it. You are shielding him. You want to make me out wrong." But she knew he knew.

"Those are the facts. Heaven knows they are bad enough, but they are by no means so bad as you thought. And I'm your wife, Stephen. That thing you did was brutal. Those men will talk. I was guilty no doubt in my thoughts, but I'm young, and you have no right to blight my life and my reputation—yes, and yours—by a thing like that. We will have to meet those men. What are you going to do?"

"I don't know," he said. "In all my life I never felt but one moment of power, and that, it seems, was false. For years I have longed to show myself a man, and now—what have I done? What have I done? I am no monster. Why couldn't you be consistent? Why did you go halfway? Why couldn't you be all good or all bad and save me this?"

"All women are half good and half bad."

"I can't blame you for not loving me. I suppose," he mumbled. "No woman of your kind could love a man like me."

"Those men!" she said in a way that made him writhe.

"Wait until I—think. I must think."

"Perhaps in the morning we can see a way out."

"That's it." He nodded. "You go to bed and I'll think, I'm trying to think now, but this heat is suffocating me and my head is tired."

Despite the breathless oppression of the night, she shivered. "I never can meet them now, and I don't see how you will dare to, knowing that you were wrong."

"Don't!" he pleaded. "The other was bad enough, but this—Tell me what to do!"

"I can't. I don't know myself. All I can see is that those men will never cease to believe, no matter what you tell them."

As she prepared for bed an hour later she heard him still stirring about in his quarters, but afterward she did not detect his cautious footsteps when he stole out of his chamber, closing the door softly behind him.

Kirk was roused from a heavy, senseless slumber the next morning by a vigorous rapping at his door. He opened the door and Runnels rushed in.

"Where did you go after I left you last night?"

"I came here, of course." As the memory of the previous night swept over Kirk he scowled.

"Did you stay here?"

"No. I went out again, and was out nearly all night trying to walk it off." Runnels' face blanched, and he drew back.

"Then, of course, you know?"

"What?"

"About Cortlandt. He's dead!"

"Dead? When? Where? How did it happen?"

"Nobody knows just how. He was found on the sea wall near Alfarez's house, shot."

"Shot! Good Lord!"

"Did you see Cortlandt again after I left you?" Runnels swallowed hard.

Kirk whirled about and faced him. "Great heavens! No! See here, that idea is ridiculous!"

Runnels sank weakly into a chair and mopped his face. "When you said you'd gone out again it knocked me flat, understand?"

"I can prove where I was, for Allan was with me. I couldn't sleep, so I tried to walk off my excitement. No, no; I couldn't do a thing like that! I thought last night that I could, but—I couldn't, really."

"I'm afraid Wade will tell all about the party if we don't stop him."

"Then we'd better hunt him up."

Kirk resumed his dressing, while Runnels consulted his watch.

"No. 5 is due in twenty minutes. We'll probably find him at the office."

Together they hastened to the railroad building, Runnels telling all he knew of the tragedy as they went along. Cortlandt's body, it seemed, had been found about daylight by a Spigot policeman, who had identified it.

Becoming panic stricken at the importance of his discovery, he had sounded the alarm, then reported directly to the governor, whose house was close by. The whole city was alive with the news. The police were buzzing like bees. Rumors of suicide, murder, robbery, were about, but no one seemed to know anything definite.

"It was suicide," Kirk averred, with conviction. "The man was insane last night, and that accounts for what he said about me. He's been sick for a long time."

"If those boys will only keep their mouths shut," Runnels said anxiously. "There's no telling what these Spigots might do if they heard about that row."

"Cortlandt was an American."

"But it happened in Panama, and it would be their affair."

Although it was Sunday, the four young fellows who had taken part in the entertainment on the night before had gathered in the office and at the appearance of Runnels greeted him eagerly. Toward Kirk, however, they maintained a disheartening constraint.

The acting superintendent began to caution them tersely.

"It's a bad business," said Runnels. "and it's something I for one don't want to be mixed up in. I've heard rumors already about some sort of a quarrel at our party, so I'm afraid you fellows have been talking."

Wade acknowledged it recklessly. "Yes, I'll answer for my part, and I'm not going to make any promise of secrecy either."

Into the office behind them came Ramon Alfarez and two Panamanian policemen, one evidently a sergeant.

"Eh, there you are!" Alfarez cried as he caught sight of Kirk. "You are arrested!"

"What for?"

"Gentlemen, you will be so kind as to give the names, yes? The judge will desire to make inquiries regarding those supper to Senator Cortlan' las' sight."

At that moment the building began to shake and reverberate as No. 5 rolled in from Colon, bearing John Weeks, American consul, and Mr. Williams of St. Louis in one of the forward coaches. As the two hurried out through the turnstiles they found the street blocked by a considerable crowd, evidently interested in something quite apart from the arrival of the morning train. But before they could learn the cause out from the nearby building came Ramon Alfarez, accompanied by several policemen and a group of railroad employees, among whom was Kirk Anthony.

"There he is!" wheezed the consul, clutching at his companion's arm. "Get him now before his friends." Williams thrust the policemen and the curious onlookers aside and, laying hold of Anthony, cried in triumph:

"Well, Mr. Jefferson Locke, I want you."

A little man in blue uniform was at-

"You are arrest'!"

tempting to take the prisoner in charge, but the detective disregarded him.

Runnels elbowed his way forward with a question.

"Oh, I've got a warrant for him," Williams declared. "What for? Well, for one thing, he embezzled $80,000, and I'm going to take him back."

"Eh? What is this?" Alfarez bustled into the conversation. "Embezzle? He is then a thief?"

"Exactly. If you're the inspector I'll ask you to make this arrest for me. I believe we're on foreign ground."

"I regret you've arrived so late," smirked Alfarez. "The gentleman is already arrested for the murder of Senator Cortlan'." He will first answer to that, I assure you."

It was during the lunch hour that Ramon Alfarez called at the Garavel home, finding the banker and his daughter still loitering over their midday meal and discussing the topic that had electrified the whole city.

"So fine a man," the father was saying. "He was, indeed, my good friend. It is shocking."

"Yes, and to think he should have been killed in this cowardly manner!"

"Killed! Is it believed that he was murdered?" Caramba! I supposed he had shot himself. That was the gossip an hour ago."

"Upon leaving the Tivoli last night Senator Cortlan' dined with six of his friends at the Central. There was drinking. The waiters have been questioned; also one of the men who was present has recounted to me what occurred. It seems that for a long time Senator Cortlan' has been jealous of his wife. Cortlan' openly accused his enemy before all the others. It was most dramatic, it was terrible! There was a scene of violence. The other man made threats."

Garavel breathed an incredulous exclamation.

"Ah, but wait! It was Senator Cortlan's best friend, too, the man for whom he had accomplished many favors, whom he accused." He noted with mingled anger and satisfaction the pallor that was creeping into the girl's cheeks. "You would never guess. It was—I hesitate, and yet you are bound to learn, my dear friends—it was this Anthony."

"It is a lie!" said the girl quietly. "He loved no one but me."

"Gertrudis!" The banker was shocked beyond measure at what he considered his daughter's jealousy. "Those are not nice words."

"I do not believe it."

Ramon had not counted upon such a spirit, and his anger getting the better of him, he sneered: "I should not have spoken. I did not know you still care." "She does not care," Garavel declared loudly.

"Ah, but I do. I love him very dearly."

The two men were upon their feet in an instant, staring at her, the elder in amazement, the younger with rage and resentment blazing from his countenance.

"Silence!" thundered the banker. "Yonder stands your affianced husband."

"It is a mistake!" she persisted gently.

"No, no, no! There is no mistake," chattered Ramon. "Those other men have told all, and your Anthony is now in the carcel under guard. It was I who saw to his arrest. Nor is that all. He is not at all the man he pretended to be, even his name is false. This morning there arrived an American officer of police to arrest him on other charges. He is a thief, it seems, having stolen $80,000 gold from his employers. Oh, there is no mistake. Within the hour I have been talking with this detective, and he has the papers of proof. Is not that enough?"

"It is, indeed!" gasped the father.

"But it is not true," maintained the girl simply, and her eyes were as steady as altar flames. "Take me to him, please. I must go at once to the carcel."

But he only answered her with a stare of amazement. "Go!" he murmured, after an instant. "Have I lost my senses?"

"Yes, I must go, for he is my husband. We were wed last night."

"Mother of God!" the banker ejaculated hoarsely, and sank into the seat from which he had arisen. Ramon was staring from one to the other, his head turning jerkily.

"Oh, yes! The judge from Colon married us during the dance. I would have liked a church wedding, but that will come later. The Senor Ronnels and his wife were there also, and they will tell you. It made me very happy." Her face was transfigured by a look that left the two men no choice but to believe.

"A civil marriage!" stammered Ramon.

"A civil marriage, indeed!" said Garavel in a choking voice. "So that is where you were when I believed you to be dancing! But I will not have it, understand! You are betrothed. You have given your word to Ramon."

"Ah, but I never loved him. You compelled me to consent because you said you could not be president unless I married him. And that was not so. Ramon deceived you. Now it is all right. You will be president, and I can be happy."

Ramon's suspicion kindled on the instant. He turned upon the banker. "So I begin to see! That was a trick, then, to betray my father."

"But wait!" Gertrudis exclaimed sharply. "Did you not trick us also? Did you not use the general, your father, to make me give up the man I love? Which of us, then, is the better?"

Andres Garavel spoke threateningly, menacingly, to his daughter.

"It was no marriage, and it will not stand. I will have it annulled. The man was a criminal, a fugitive, even when he forced you to marry."

"No, no! You cannot do that. It was I who asked him to marry me."

The girl fled tremulously, panic stricken at the threat. "Before God, I am his wife!" she maintained. "And if this marriage has a flaw then I will stand beside the prison gates and remarry him as he comes forth."

"He will not come forth," Ramon declared harshly.

"Oh, yes! And now will you take me to him?"

"No!" her father bellowed. "You are my daughter, you are under my roof, and here you shall stay until you give up this madness and this man. I forbid you to go near him. Come! Do you promise?" She inclined her dark head. "I must learn more of this affair at once. You will find your senses, miss, or if you do not you will spend your life in meditation and prayer—that much I promise you."

"I do not wish to enter a convent," she said, with white lips. "I wish to be happy. When Keer is free I shall go to him. Now, if you please, I think I shall go away." She turned and went out of the big high ceilinged room, and not until she had reached the hall did her feet waver or her head droop.

SUPPLEMENTAL LEGISLATION

Will Be Required to Render Seventeenth Amendment Effective.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The senate election committee, 7 to 3, voted to recommend that Blair Lee, a Democrat, be seated in the senate to succeed Senator Jackson, Republican, of Maryland, and, by a vote of 9 to 1, determined to report adversely on the credentials of Frank P. Glass, appointed to succeed the late Senator Johnston of Alabama.

The committee's action, if sustained by the senate, determines that the seventeenth amendment is not in effect without supplemental legislation, and that the legislatures of the states must direct the governor as to the method of filling vacancies.

DELAWARE & HUDSON
TIED UP BY STRIKE

Five Thousand Men Give Up Work Under Orders.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—In the operating department five thousand employees of the Delaware and Hudson railroad are on strike, tying up the whole Delaware and Hudson system from Rouses Point, N. Y., near the Canadian border, to Wilkesbarre, Pa., including several branch lines. Trains on the road at the time the order took effect this morning were taken to their division terminals so that there would be as little inconvenience to travelers and the mail service as possible.

The strike was ordered by the men's union representatives after negotiations begun in early December, failed to bring about an amicable settlement. The men say that the strike will be called off if two men are reinstated and that other grievances about back pay will be arbitrated.

The prison sentence was suspended upon Akers' promise to take up his worthless paper as fast as possible. Akers, who was proprietor of the Tipton Music company, became financially involved last spring and in an effort to keep his business going forged several names to notes.

"MOST MEN FALL AT FORTY."

"More Orthodoxy in Jail Than Church," Assertions of "Pastor Vigilante." Preaching in Chicago recently, the Rev. William Rader of San Francisco said:

"More men fall into sin at forty than at twenty years of age. It is time we stopped slandering the working girl and directed our missionary efforts toward the fashionable rich, who clink their wineglasses. I've found more orthodoxy in penitentiaries than I have in the churches."

The Rev. Mr. Rader formerly was a Presbyterian minister and during the fight on graft in San Francisco was known as the "pastor vigilante."

Liquor in Furniture.

Almost every conceivable method has been employed to introduce liquor into the Indian country of Oklahoma from Fort Smith, Ark., but United States marshals lately discovered two new schemes. In the drawers of a washstand and dresser consigned to a company at Barnett, Okla., sixty quarts of whiskey were found. Inside a barrel of salt was a ten gallon keg.

Ducks Mosquitoes' Foes.

"The most effective method of exterminating mosquitoes," says Dr. Gebbing, director of the Leipzig zoological garden, "is to keep wild ducks on the ponds where they breed. These birds feed eagerly upon all insect life in the larva state, and where there are plenty of ducks very few of the larvae reach the glories of mosquitohood, even in the most stagnant pools."

KONDON'S
CATARRHAL JELLY

FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, Has Found a Remedy.

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions usually go together.

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, says: "I had a bad stomach trouble for years, and became so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking 'Vinol' I find a remarkable improvement in my health, my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight. I would not be without Vinol."

Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

BUSY DAY PUT IN BY DEPARTMENT

First Alarm Came From Windsor Hotel Where Blaze in Roof Threatened to do Damage.

FRANK WALLACE BIG LOSER

Photograph Gallery Destroyed With Loss of $1500 Covered With $900 Insurance.

The fire department put in a busy day Sunday answering three alarms. The first came about ten-thirty o'clock yesterday morning when a blaze was discovered in the fourth floor of the Windsor hotel. The second came shortly before midnight when the department was called to the Wallace photograph gallery in West Second street. The third alarm came early this morning when fire again broke out in the gallery.

Of the two fires Frank Wallace suffered the heaviest loss although for a time the fire at the Windsor hotel looked to be serious. The fire at the hotel started from a small gas stove in the room on the fourth floor. The stove was left burning by the dining room girls, who resided on this floor. The floor under the stove was not protected and caught fire.

The stove burned a hole in the floor and the flames soon spread to other parts of the room. The fourth floor is directly under the roof and the blaze was hard to get at as it was necessary to chop large holes in the tin roofing. The fire was first discovered by Frank Wooster, who was passing by and noticed a large amount of smoke from the roof. He notified the clerk and the department was soon on the job. The fire was hard to fight and a large amount of water was thrown before the blaze was finally extinguished.

The greatest loss is from water. The water damaged several of the rooms and soaked through each floor until it flooded the office and hallway leading to the office and hallway leading to the entrance. S. W. Nicholas, the proprietor of the Windsor states that the loss is fully covered with insurance and it is thought that the damage will not amount to over $500. It will be necessary to make extensive repairs to the roof and rafters as both were badly damaged. It was the first fire for the new chief Walter Easley and the manner in which he handled the fire received much favorable comment. The loss would have been very heavy but for the efficient work of the department.

The blaze at the Wallace photograph gallery, which is in the same block as the Windsor hotel, proved costly for Frank Wallace the owner. His loss is placed at $1500 with $900 insurance. The origin of the fire is not known. It was first seen by Nightwatchman Sullivan and appeared at that time to be in the rear of the room. When the department arrived the flames were shooting up over the roof. Practically nothing was saved from the gallery and besides the loss from equipment Mr. Wallace lost negatives and plates which have no money value but which were held very high by him. He had negatives as old as sixty years and the collection could not be replaced with money. They were all lost, as was his cameras.

The blaze was thought to be out but it was necessary to call the fire department again before the blaze was finally extinguished. The second alarm came about three-thirty this morning. The blaze broke out again near the roof but it was

Mrs. Margaret Terry of Anderson Expires Sunday of Heart Disease at Louis Neutzenheller's Home.

TAKEN TO HER HOME TODAY

Mrs. Margaret Terry, age seventy years, of Anderson, died Sunday at the home of her brother, Louis Neutzenheller, in North Morgan street, while here on a visit, of heart disease. She had been in poor health for some time.

A post mortem revealed an unusual case. One of the arteries leading to the heart was enlarged and had pushed the heart out of place. This enlargement broke and death resulted.

Mrs. Terry was born and reared in Connerville. Her husband died twelve years ago. Besides her brother here, she is survived by four brothers and three sisters. She was one of a family of ten children, two of whom preceded her to the grave. A brief service, with the Rev. John B. Meacham of the First Presbyterian church in charge, was held this morning and the body was taken to Anderson over the Big Four at eleven o'clock for funeral services at the home of Mrs. Terry's sister, Mrs. Gertrude Kirsch, and burial.

CHARGED WITH STEALING HAY

Albert Fouty Arraigned Before Judge Megee and Entered Plea of Not Guilty.

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Court Found For Solomon Stewart in Sum of $1,500—Calendar For Next Term Completed.

Albert Fouty, living southeast of the city, appeared before Judge Megee this morning and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of larceny. Fouty was indicted by the grand jury, October 31, 1913, charged with stealing two tons of hay from Jesse L. Hinton. He was never arrested and appeared of his own accord before Judge Megee. Fouty was released under $500 bond with Lien Oneal as security.

At the time the indictment was returned the sheriff could not locate him and the warrant for his arrest was never served. The warrant was turned over by C. L. Bebout when he retired from the sheriff's office to Voorhees Cavitt. He held the warrant this morning when Fouty appeared in court. Fouty is represented by George W. Young. The date for the trial has not been set.

Judge Megee found for the plaintiff, Solomon Stewart, in the case of Stewart against Thomas Tillison and Harry T. Harrell, to enforce a vendor's lien, demanding $1,500 with interest. The case was heard several weeks ago and after hearing additional evidence the court returned his finding. The judgment gives Stewart $1,500 and interest from July 1, 1913. The case was sent here from Shelby county on a change of venue.

The present term of court will end Saturday of this week according to the plans of Judge Megee. After one week's vacation the February term will start. FOUND NOT GUILTY

The evidence showed that Jackson started the trouble and that Pea simply put him out of his office in West Third street.

RUSHVILLE GIRL IN LEADING ROLE

Miss Charlotte Sleeth is Playing Mary Turner in "Within The Law" Company.

SISTERS HERE WILL SEE HER

How She Achieved Brilliant Success and Played in Jane Cowl's Place is Interesting.

Marion Morton in "Within the Law." This will be scrawled on the bill boards in cities through the south, up the Pacific coast through Canada the next few months.

What has that to do with Rushville, since Rushville is not in the south, along the Pacific coast or in Canada? Simply that Marion Morton is Miss Charlotte Sleeth of New York, a Rushville girl and sister of Miss Mary Sleeth and Miss Nora Sleeth of this city.

Miss Sleeth is playing the leading role, that of Mary Turner, in the eleventh company that is playing the typical American play, "Within the Law." She is at Portsmouth, Ohio, this week, the nearest she will be to Rushville while on tour, and the Misses Sleeth will go to Portsmouth Wednesday to see the show.

The story of how Miss Sleeth came to be playing the part of Mary Turner is very interesting. Miss Sleeth, as all her Rushville friends know, is a vocalist of ability. Last spring she booked a quartet for appearances during the summer, but because of throat trouble she was unable to take the company on tour.

In the fall she was offered the part of Sarah in a "Within the Law" company playing in the east and Canada. Miss Sleeth was also understudy of Miss Towers, who had the leading role. At New Haven one night Miss Towers grew ill and it was up to Miss Sleeth to play the part. She had not been through a rehearsal as Mary Turner for some time, but she came out with flying colors.

Arch Selwyn, the producer, wired to New York for one accustomed to playing the Mary Turner part. She arrived the next afternoon, but not in time for the matinee, and Miss Sleeth played it. The producer was in the audience. After the performance he told Miss Sleeth her act was so very fine that the other leading woman would be sent back to New York.

The company finished its trip and arrived back in New York just before the holidays. Then it was decided to organize another and Miss Sleeth, because of her excellent work when she filled in during the illness of Miss Towers, was selected to lead it.

The company rehearsed diligently for the first appearance the Tuesday before Christmas. As a compliment to Miss Sleeth, she was selected to play the Mary Turner role in Jane Cowl's place at the Elting theater in New York the night before the company left on tour. This is the first company playing the piece, and it has already established a record for length of engagement in New York. In the opinion of her friends, this compliment paid Miss Sleeth was the best expression of her brilliant success.

But as to the name, Marion Morton. It was sort of wished on her. A couple of years ago, to favor a friend, Miss Sleeth had a singing role in "Three Twins" while her friend was away. The programs were made up before she arrived. She was given the name Marion Morton—and it has stuck.

PRETTY GIRL IS UNDER GRILL TODAY

Julia Falke, Age 15, is Suspected of Suggesting the Murder of Her Own Mother.

STEP-FATHER UNDER ARREST

(By United Press.)

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 19.—Suspected of suggesting that her own mother be shot to death, pretty fifteen-year-old Julia Flake is under a third degree here today and Robert Higgins, her step-father, is under arrest. Mrs. Flake-Higgins, wife of the prisoner, was killed January 5 by the accidental discharge of a gun he was cleaning, according to his story.

The prosecutor's theory is said to be that the girl was infatuated with her step-father and her mother discovered this, making a motive for a possible crime. A coroner's jury exonerated Higgins of all blame, but a sensation was uncovered last Monday when there was presented to the prosecutor letters alleged to have been written by the school girl to her step-father, suggesting that he kill her mother and receive part of the $7,000 estate.

MEDIATION MAY COME BY TONIGHT

Prospects of Settlement of Strike on Delaware & Hudson Railroad After Men Are Out a Day.

UNION WANTS 2 REINSTATED

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Mediation may come in the Delaware & Hudson railway strike by tonight. With one of the richest sections of the country standing still because of the tie-up of the railroad, the attorney of the federal board of mediation, Jean W. Hanger, reached here this afternoon after a conference with railroad officials in New York. He immediately went into conference with Martin Carey, vice-president of the conductors' union.

After the 5,000 men quit work this morning, D. & H. officials attempted to have the strike leaders withdraw the strike order, Superintendent John T. McGrew proposed that the union agree to arbitration. Martin Carey replied that the railroad had due notice that the strike would be called and that mediation would not be agreed on by the strikers until the railroad reinstated two employees. This would require an infraction of the safety rules.

DENIES BUSINESS HAS BEEN HURT

President Wilson Also Declares he Never Favored Allowing Railroads to Increase Rates.

HE AIRS SOME VIEWS TODAY

Admits Tacit Violation of Law in Adjustments Which Have Already Been Made.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Wilson today declared unfounded reports that business had suffered under the operation of the new tariff law. He told callers that the contrary was the case.

The President denied that he had told anyone he favored allowing the railroads to increase their rates. Explaining his attitude toward "big business" and the anti-trust law, the President admitted that in most of the adjustments there had been at least a tacit violation of the law, but he explained that the violation had been more of the spirit than the letter.

The attorney-general, while not attempting to evade the enforcement of the law, has tried to give corporations time to change their methods so they will not violate the law any more, the President declared.

MEETING POSTPONED.

The regular meeting of the Parent Teachers association of the high school, which was to have been held tomorrow night, has been postponed for a week because this is examination week in the high school and the teachers are busy, and in addition many persons on the program have other engagements.

Mr. Merchant!

Now, Mr. Local Dealer, here is some straight talk

This is the month in which many manufacturers are laying out their advertising plans for the coming year.

These plans naturally have for their object an increase of business. That manufacturer is going to spend his money where it is going to give him the best return.

One thing that will influence his plans is the extent to which dealers will co-operate in making local sales. That word co-operation does not mean sitting down and letting customers come, if they are willing. It means actively pushing the sale of goods advertised in their local newspapers by the manufacturers.

Now, why not let the manufacturers with whom you do business know that if they will help make business for you, you will help make business for them.

Tell them that if they will use the newspapers of your town to make known the merit of their goods you will let the public know that these goods can be had at your store.

Co-operate—and let your manufacturers know you are willing to do so. Share in the dollar harvest by acting now, when it is time to sow the seed.

Hia Modest Request.
A man once asked Thackeray to lend him 5 shillings, which he would convert into £20,000. Asked how, he explained that he knew a young woman with £20,000 who he knew would marry him if he asked her, but he had pawned his teeth and wanted 5 shillings to redeem them in order to propose effectively.

Two Kinds.
"That man who paid a fortune for a bogus rare book must be a very indignant bibliophile."
"Well," replied Miss Cayenne, "there are bibliophiles, and then there are what Josh Billings would have called 'bibliophools.'"—Washington Star.

History in July.

In at least four countries perhaps the most important event in their histories was recorded in July—namely, the establishment of their independence. In our own history we have the memorable Fourth of July, while the patriotic efforts of the liberator Simon Bolivar for the independence of Venezuela were consummated on July 5, Colombia ridding herself of the Spanish yoke on July 20. Then there is France, with her July 14, marking the date when the suffering French people stormed the famed and fearsome Bastille. The Spanish forces at Santiago, Cuba, capitulated on July 13.

Asking Him to Read the Future.
"I shall call upon a fortune teller this morning," said Mr. Blubb.
"Going to try to learn something about the future?" asked Mr. Wagles.

"Yes. I am going to ask him when he expects to pay the arrears of rent for that cottage of mine he is occupying as a school of astrology and institute for psychical research."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

An Old Puzzle.

An excellent, if an old, puzzle is: How can a window having a height equal to its width be made twice as large without increasing its height or width?

Impossible! Oh, no! In the first instance it is shaped like a diamond; then it is changed to a square.

Keep on Fighting.

All work of man is as the swimmer's. A waste ocean threatens to devour him. If he front it not bravely it will keep its word. By incessant wise defiance of it, lusty rebuke and buffet of it, behold how it loyally supports him—bears him as its conqueror along!—Thomas Carlyle.

NEW REFORM IS TO BE TRIED OUT

Mutual Welfare League is Formed in New York State Prison at Auburn Sunday.

DELEGATES BOARD NAMED

Pledge Themselves "to Obey Cheerfully Rules and Regulations and Promote Good Feeling."

Auburn, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Sunday the formal installation of the board of delegates of the Mutual Welfare league in Auburn prison took place when forty-nine men elected by the fourteen hundred inmates took their oath of office. The event marked the first effort at reforming convicts from inside, and there were addresses by Thomas M. Osborne, chairman of the state prison commission; Judge H. J. McCann, chairman of the state parole board; Brigadier W. O. Hunter of the Salvation Army and George B. Stewart, president of Auburn Theological seminary. Telegrams encouraging the convicts in their new work were received from Governor Glynn and Superintendent of Prisons Riley.

Warden Rattigan administered the oath of office in which the convicts pledged themselves "cheerfully to obey the rules and regulations, to promote good feeling, good conduct and fair dealing between inmates and keepers."

In the women's prison Miss Madeline Z. Doty, a member of the state commission, who recently spent a short voluntary term in that institution unknown to the keepers or inmates in her true identity, introduced the new idea. She said:

"It is astonishing to find such a new spirit in not only the women's, but the men's prison. Where there used to be apathy there is now hope and genuine desire to reform, not only themselves, but to be of service to those who are headed toward prison."

"It is manifest in many little things. For example, now a girl is not only permitted, but is encouraged to say 'good morning' and to smile when she leaves her cell, where formerly she would be breaking a rule in doing this. A score of such regressions that destroyed individuality have been wiped away by the superintendent of state prisons, John B. Riley, and his enlightened and humane recommendations are being admirably carried out by Warden Rattigan and the new matron, Mrs. Margaret Daley."

VOLCANO'S TOLL OF DEATH

Loss of Life in Japan, It is Believed, Will Reach 7,000.

Kagoshima, Japan, Jan. 19.—That the list of dead from the volcanic eruptions and earthquakes will be enormous is the growing belief. Government experts agree that it is not improbable the list may reach as high as 7,000.

The property loss in this immediate vicinity alone is placed at not less than $5,000,000, and will be increased unless the volcano subsides soon.

Later eruptions and the earth tremors caused the collapse of a score of buildings which had survived the first shocks, and inhabitants who had returned here and were attempting to aid in rescue work fled in terror from the vicinity.

Sulzer Will Testify.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Former Governor William Sulzer, who has arrived here to take up his assembly duties, declared that he would shield no one when he is called as a witness next Friday before Chief Magistrate McAdoo in the John Doe proceedings in New York. He averred that the facts so far unearthed by District Attorney Whitman has but scratched the surface of the graft scandal and that United States Senator James A. O'Gorman will be a witness of great value in the investigation.

Railroad "Fires" Men For Drinking.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 19.—Railroad men were shocked when it was learned that 126 men employed on the Pittsburgh and Brownsville division of the Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Lake Erie road have been dismissed summarily. The charge in every case was drinking. While the company officials refused to discuss the case, it was learned that about 500 employees are to go for the same reason.

Trapped by a Decoy Letter.

Bloomfield, Ind., Jan. 19.—Post-office inspector Fletcher arrested Ernest Kidd, sixteen years old, on a charge of stealing mail. It is charged that the boy learned the combination of the lock box of the county clerk and stole letters containing money orders and money amounting to from $50 to $100. He was trapped by a "decoy" letter.

BIG BATTLE EXPECTED
AT SAN LUIS POTOSI

Federal Army Marches Out to Meet Rebels.

Mexico City, Jan. 19.—A battle is in progress about Matamoros, where the rebels are concentrating, probably for the purpose of attacking San Luis Potosi. They number at least 3,000. General Mass's column of 2,000 men is marching to meet them.

The government denies that it intends to issue fiat money. The bankers here are forming a commission to co-operate with the government in its endeavors to improve the financial situation. Government officials say that some banks will reopen next week without waiting for the bank holiday to expire on March 1.

Arrivals from the south say the Zapatistas number 3,000 at Tlayacapan, thirty miles southeast of here. It is a most rugged country, where it is impossible for the federals to surround them.

The governor of Sinaloa reports that the gunboat Morelos is heavily shelling the rebel position along the coast.

Putting Teeth in Anti-Trust Law.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Congressman Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the house committee on judiciary, is the author of amendments to the Sherman anti-trust law, which will provide prison sentences for officers of guilty corporations. The amendments will make guilt personal.

Minority Leader Quite Ill.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Representative James R. Mann of Chicago, minority leader of the house, is ill here of pneumonia. Mr. Mann has been indisposed for several days. His condition became worse, and he was compelled to take to his bed.

A Talk to Rushville Mothers
About Croup and Cold Trouble

The New Treatment With Fresh Air and Antiseptic Vapors That Does Away With Injurious Internal Medicines, Flannel Jackets, Etc.

Every mother is the doctor when it comes to treating the annoying little cold troubles that all children are heir to. The only trouble is to know what really is the best thing to do.

Some mothers keep the children in doors and make them wear chest protectors and heavy flannels. This method deprives the children of the fresh air and exercise they need and the heavy clothing keeps the pores of the skin open and really makes them catch cold more easily.

A few mothers neglect these troubles entirely and this often leads, in after life, to chronic catarrh, weakened lungs, etc.

Most mothers keep on hand a formidable array of bottles and are usually dosing one or more of the children. This method is probably worse than the others as most cough medicines contain alcohol and some form of opium and are very injurious to the delicate stomachs of the little folks.

After all, colds are simply inflammations of the lining of the air passages just like sunburn and mosquito bites are inflammation of the skin. We don't dose the stomach to cure sunburn but have had to dose the stomach for colds because there has been no way of applying a direct application to the air passages except the form of vapors. And while the old vapor lamps gave off the needed vapors, they required the room to be kept closed and hence kept out the all important fresh air.

Pine tar from the south, menthol from Japan, camphor from the Isle of Formosa, and the oils of Thymol, eucalyptol, cubeb and juniper, are recognized as the best remedies for cold troubles. Druggists the world over have been seeking some cheap, convenient method of vaporizing these products without having to use the cumbersome vapor lamp.

A druggist in North Carolina discovered how to combine these products in a salve by a special process so that they were vaporized by the heat of the body when applied over the throat and chest. This patented process is the only secret about this new treatment which is known as Vicks Croup and Pneumonia Salve.

Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a little Vicks used occasionally will keep the children free from cold troubles no matter how much they are exposed. Croup really is relieved in 15 minutes. For all inflammations of air passages such as catarrh bronchitis, tonsillitis, asthma, etc., this new treatment will be found remarkably successful. Simply apply Vicks well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

All the leading stores in Rushville are now agencies for the sale of this preparation and are given with each sale a refund slip that is good for your money back if Vicks is not found to be far better than internal medicines.

Vicks comes in three sizes—25c, 50c, and $1.00. The price is never out.

Amusements

"The Sea Eternal" heads the feature attraction at the Portola tonight. It is a two-part Lubin drama and a story of the sea. The story was written by Arthur Johnson, who is seen in the picture along with Lottie Briscoe and an all-star cast. George Schmidt, the well-known baritone, will sing two selections tonight. On Thursday and Friday night, with matinee each day, the feature, "The Wife of Cain" will be shown. It is another of the Helen Gardner features and is in four reels. Helen Gardner was seen in "A Princess of Bagdad" at this theater two weeks ago, and the theater goers are assured of a fine production whenever she appears in a picture. On these same nights Miss Gardner will be shown in another four-reel feature, "A Sister to Carmen." These are her latest productions.

The Gem offers a two-reel production "The End of the Road" for the first part of the program tonight. It is a Victor drama and is a thrilling picture. The other is a western picture entitled "Western Hearts." Charles Risor, manager of the Gem, has secured a real treat for his patrons tomorrow night, when "Oliver Twist," as presented by the Famous Player Film Company, will be shown. The photo-play is taken from the story by Dickens and the part of Fagin is played by Nat C. Goodwin, the famous actor. This part has recently been acted by Goodwin in an all-star revival of "Oliver Twist" at the Amsterdam theater in New York. The picture is in five parts and tells the complete story. A matinee will be given Tuesday afternoon and the first show will start at 6:30 o'clock.

Society News

The Ladies Aid society of the St. Paul M. E. church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock by Mrs. James E. Watson at her home in North Main street, assisted by Mrs. Clyde Deiters and Mrs. E. B. Thomas. A large attendance is desired as final arrangements for the free lunch to be given Thursday noon at the church will be made.

Miss Mary Walter Glover of Oklahoma City, who is visiting here, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. J. Frank Marshall in Columbus. The Columbus Republican says: One of the charming affairs of the week was the luncheon Saturday afternoon, given by Mrs. J. Frank Marshall, at her home on North Washington street, complimentary to her guest, Miss Mary Walter Glover of Oklahoma City.

All Health Bodies Should Combine to Be Effective

By JAMES L. WALLIS, President Association Food and Dairy Commissioners

THE pure food and drug movement is a brother to the SWAT THE FLY MOVEMENT, to the fight against woman and child labor which THREATEN OUR FUTURE GENERATIONS OF CITIZENS, to the proposals for the sanitary disposition of sewage and for the prevention of pollution of water supplies, to the quarantine and extinction of all contagious diseases from measles to bubonic plague. It is a branch of health work.

But at the present time there is no correlation, and that is essential. I don't care what you call it; whether you call it a national department of health, with an officer of it sitting in the cabinet, or not. Now we have separate clerks, separate laboratories, separate housing, with WASTE OF TIME, MONEY AND ENERGY and with the great loss of a broad, far seeing plan. There ought to be ONE ORGANIZATION FOR ALL THE HEALTH ACTIVITIES of the federal government, with similar organizations for the states.

AGREES TO GIVE UP THE BATTLE

Edward Beardsley, Who Held Posse at Bay Almost a Week, to Submit to Arrest Wednesday.

BROTHER TO TAKE CHILDREN

Photographers Who Were Admitted to Premises Say Children Were Not in Distress.

Jamestown, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Sunday afternoon your correspondent passed the cordon of sentinels posted by Sheriff Anderson a mile and a half from the home of Edward Beardsley, who since last Tuesday has stood off a sheriff's posse anxious to arrest him for shooting Overseer of the Poor John G. Putnam, and approached the Beardsley house. Beardsley, with his Winchester poked through a slit in the boards over the window, commanded a halt. Convinced that no harm was meant, he lowered his gun and invited the correspondent into the house, and for the first time since the shooting last Tuesday he conversed without covering his man with the gun. He said he would gladly make a statement to the press, and in response to a suggestion procured a sheet of writing paper, pen and ink and wrote a statement, in which he said:

"I wish to state the facts in the shooting of Poormaster Putnam. These people came to my house, Putnam and two sheriffs, with the subpoena to appear before Justice of the Peace Harry M. Young. These papers without the signature of the said justice of the peace and to show cause why said children should not be taken and put in a charity institution. My children had beard, clothes and money in my pocket to buy more. Whereupon I felt it my duty to protect my home and family and children with my life. You fathers and mothers if you have a vacant place around the table, think of the one that is gone from you bringing the pang of sorrow. "Now what is life after your home is destroyed, be it ever so humble? My brother expects to take my children and take care of them and me to jail Wednesday next to await trial for shooting in the defense of my own home and little ones. Did I do right or not? Do unto me as you would have others do unto you is a motto we all love. I certainly knew nothing about this man Putnam being shot until they told me. So I need friends and assistance from those that believe in the protection of home and family. I need bail, if permitted to have bail. Good bye."

Beardsley's reference to Wednesday was in regard to an agreement which he had made earlier Sunday with three of his brothers and his lawyer. This agreement only was reached when he was fully convinced that his brother would be permitted to take charge of the children. Beardsley stipulated that the grandmother, who is at Youngsville, Pa., be sent for to prepare the children for their journey to Titusville. This was agreed to.

Before the talk with Beardsley was finished a group of probably fifty had gathered in the roadway opposite the house. The crowd clamored for a sight of the man. "There are no deputies here," said one. Beardsley, grasping his Winchester with one hand, unfasted the door with the other and stood for a few moments in the doorway.

"Are there any cameras in the crowd?" he asked. "If there is I would like to have someone photograph these children, just to show that they are not suffering."

The children grouped about him as he spoke. They were plump and rosy-cheeked and playful. One of them held in her hands a big white rabbit. "We've got two white rabbits and two black ones," she volunteered, shyly.

Beardsley got his first newspaper Sunday morning and read it carefully. He pointed out paragraphs which he said were untrue.

There is some legal question as to whether the authorities had complied with all the provisions of the law for taking possession of the children at the time the poormaster and sheriff's officers went there last Tuesday.

In the interview with the correspondent Beardsley said only four of the children were his. The woman who claims to be his wife is in May

Contributory Plan Best to Pension Government Employees

By LINDLEY M. GARRISON, Secretary of War

I FEEL quite sure that it is practicable to save the government money and to benefit the government service by establishing a retirement system. I do not believe, however, that there is any possibility of such a system being provided for in the near future by any measure that will CALL FOR LARGER APPROPRIATIONS from the federal treasury than would be required to pay the annuities for those now in the service—that is, the entire annuity of all those who are now seventy years of age or over and part of the annuity of all others now in the service who shall remain therein until THEY REACH SEVENTY YEARS OF AGE, and I think it wise that the maximum annuity of which the government pays any part should be fixed at ONE-HALF THE ANNUAL SALARY for employees with average salary of twelve hundred dollars or less and at six hundred dollars for those whose annual salary exceeds twelve hundred dollars.

ALL PERSONS WHO ACCEPT EMPLOYMENT UNDER THE FEDERAL CIVIL SERVICE AFTER THE PASSAGE OF A RETIREMENT ACT SHOULD DO SO UNDER PROVISIONS OF LAW WHICH WOULD COMPEL THE ACCUMULATION OF A FUND DERIVED FROM MONTHLY DEDUCTIONS FROM THEIR SALARIES THAT WOULD MAKE IT HUMANELY POSSIBLE FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO RETIRE THEM AT SEVENTY YEARS OF AGE OR BEFORE THAT AGE SHOULD SUPERANNUATION OR OTHER DISABILITY REQUIRE IT.

Under the contributory plan an employee after a considerable length of service would receive periodically from the fund accumulated by his contributions a sum sufficient to KEEP HIM FROM ACTUAL WANT, whereas under the straight pension plan he cannot derive any benefit from the pension until he reaches the prescribed age. In other words, under the straight pension plan there would be almost the same situation that confronts us now—namely, the retention in the service, through considerations of humanity, of persons who have become incapacitated for efficient service.

Saving of Individual More Important Than Reform

By Rev. WILLIAM RADER of San Francisco

DURING my life I have spent considerable time in the effort to reform evil conditions, but if I were to live it over I would not give so much time to reform as to the redemption of men.

IF YOU CHANGE THE SKIN OF A RATTLESNAKE YOU DO NOT CHANGE HIS NATURE, BUT ONLY MAKE HIM THE MORE DANGEROUS. MANY CHANGES HAVE BEEN EFFECTED IN THE ADMINISTRATIONS OF AMERICAN CITIES, BUT AFTER THE BATTLES AT THE ELECTIONS HAVE BEEN ENDED WE ARE CONFRONTED AGAIN WITH THE SAME EVILS AS BEFORE. EVENTUALLY WE SHALL FIND THAT ANY GOVERNMENT IS A GOOD GOVERNMENT TO LIVE UNDER IF IT BE COMPOSED OF GOOD MEN.

The making of character is a serious matter. It means bitterness and struggle. A man is NOT MADE AT TWENTY. More men FAIL IN THEIR FORTIES. There are more wrecks made during the middle years than at any other period. There is no quick growth in the making of a man. There is encouragement, too, for the man caught in the NET OF HEREDITY AND ENVIRONMENT. Religion is stronger than either, and in religion he will find his salvation.

No man need be discouraged. In the making of a man there need be no special emphasis placed on thought of theological adjustment to life. I have found MORE ORTHODOXY IN THE PENITENTIARY THAN IN THE CHURCHES. It is quite possible for a man to be sound in his doctrines and all wrong in his life.

Hostile Critics Lament Decay of Scholarly Ideals

By Dr. HENRY LOUIS SMITH, President of Washington and Lee University

THE German-American university has now become the home of scholarship and research, the professional schools are steadily encroaching upon the four years' college period from above, and the American public high school, with marvelous growth and limitless resources, is absorbing the freshman and sophomore years from below.

MEANWHILE A CEASELESS STREAM OF HOSTILE CRITICS LAMENT THE DECAY OF SCHOLARLY IDEALS, THE IDLENESS AND DEGRADING VICIES OF THE CAMPUS, THE DOMINANCE OF ATHLETIC AND SOCIAL ACTIVITIES AND THE HOPELESS ANTAGONISM BETWEEN THE IDEALS AND HERO WORSHIP OF THE STUDENT BODY AND THE OFFICIAL BESTOWMENT OF COLLEGE HONORS BY THE FACULTY.

MAY RETURN MORE CHARGES

Terre Haute Grand Jury Yet to Reach Conclusions on Recent Municipal Election.

MAYOR ROBERTS IS INDICTED

32,641 Children Returned to School in Indiana Last Year by Truant Officers.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 19.—On charges of bribery, conspiracy to commit fraud and stuffing ballot boxes, the special grand jury has returned indictments against Mayor Donn M. Roberts. All of the indictments are based on Roberts's alleged actions during the campaign and election of 1912.

Roberts offered bond in the sum of $8,000, which was accepted. He would talk to no one of his indictment.

Two of the indictments charge Mayor Roberts with bribery in connection with Maurice (Cotton) Chase. Chase served as registration inspector in one of the tenderloin precincts on the registration board in 1912 and the indictments charge Roberts with having paid Chase $50 to be allowed to place 300 fictitious names on the precinct registry. Two other similar indictments were returned against Roberts in conjunction with Andrew Berkeley, registration inspector of the Taylorville precinct in 1912. They charge Roberts with having paid Berkeley the sum of $25. Two other indictments charged Roberts with conspiracy to commit fraud, and name Chase in conjunction.

The investigation by the special grand jury, on which the indictments against Roberts were based, was all of the presidential election in 1912. The special body of inquirers, while making inquiry into the conduct of the municipal election last fall, has not yet reached conclusions regarding it. The news of the indictments and the subsequent arrest of Roberts created surprise here. Many citizens expected that indictments would be returned, but that they would come so soon and in such a number was a surprise to all.

TRUANCY LAW ACTIVITIES

More Than 32,000 Children Returned to School Last Year.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—The activities of the 109 truant officers of the state resulted in 32,641 children being returned to school last year.

The reports received by the state board of truancy show a total of 17,559 days spent in the service, 89,883 visits made and that it was necessary to provide aid for 7,749 children. The cases investigated in Marion county numbered 15,110.

Considering the large number of children reached, the number of prosecutions was small. Two hundred and seventy-three cases were brought into court, and of this number 237 were decided in favor of the truant officers and thirty-six in favor of the parents or guardians.

For the administration of the law the various counties and cities spent $58,573.67, of which $35,559.20 was for salaries and $22,714.47 for aid to children. The average expense for each child brought into school was $1.10. The cost of books and clothing supplied needy children averaged $2.93 for each child aided.

A Mistrial Not Unlikely.

Madison, Ind., Jan. 19.—The general character of the testimony introduced by the prosecution in the Grimes murder case does not seem to impress the public as strong enough to warrant a verdict against the son for killing his father. A disagreement of the jury is not improbable. About half the witnesses have thus far been examined.

Live Stock Perishes in Flames.

Wabash, Ind., Jan. 19.—Several head of horses and forty hogs were cremated and an automobile, farming implements and feed amounting to $4,000 were destroyed near here when a barn owned by Hugh and Guy Barnhart was burned.

Indianapolis Poolroom Raided.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—Six men were arrested charged with operating horse race poolrooms, following an investigation which disclosed, detectives say, that a branch of the Mont Teanes gambling syndicate of Chicago is in operation here.

discovered in time and no further damage resulted. The building is owned by Walter E. Smith, and is fully insured. Fred Gale, who conducts a pool room directly under the Wallace galleries suffered heavily from water that ran down through from the upstairs.

When the alarm was sounded for the Wallace fire some one thoughtlessly told the clerk at the Windsor that the building was on fire again and he sounded an alarm in all the halls of the hotel. The people there after going through one fire naturally were on edge and the house was emptied in very short order.

Another fire almost resulted last night about ten o'clock at the Kramer building in North Morgan street. The blaze was found in time and the department was not called. A rubber to a stove in the office of Dr. J. B. Kinsinger became unfastened and when found the carpet was on fire and the blaze was making great headway. It was found by George Pantenrey.

SOME HOPE FOR THE BACKSLIDER

Rev. A. W. Jamieson Says Restored one May be of Great Service in Christian Work.

PREACH 2 SERMONS SUNDAY

United Presbyterians Rally to Support of Their Pastor Who is Holding a Revival.

The congregation of the United Presbyterian church has rallied to the support of the revival meeting in progress there under the leadership of the pastor, the Rev. A. W. Jamieson. The schedule of meetings will be held as announced.

Two large audiences greeted Dr. Jamieson yesterday. Today no meetings were held, but the regular preaching services will take place. Beginning tomorrow, the regular program will be followed, with morning prayer meetings, after afternoon Bible study and evening services.

Prayer meetings will be held tomorrow morning at ten o'clock with Mrs. Wolfe in North Oliver street, Mrs. Mary Wilson at the corner of Perkins and Tenth street, Mrs. Harry Thorne at 728 North Perkins street and Mrs. Hunter in South Pearl street. The last named meeting will be at 9:30.

Sunday morning the pastor preached on "Back-sliding." He showed from the Bible that a converted person may "back-slide;" that God pleads with the "back-sliding" to return and that a restored "back-sliding" may be wonderfully useful in God's service.

At last night's sermon the text was taken from Luke, 9:51. "Lord, I will follow thee, but—" Then the Rev. Mr. Jamieson gave some of the most used reasons for not following the Lord. One man would follow Jesus, he said, but he wanted good financial standing. Another man would follow Him, but he wanted to wait until his father was dead and buried, the pastor declared. Still another man wanted to follow Him, but he wanted the consent of home folks, the Rev. Mr. Jamieson added.

"Jesus revealed himself to all three as Lord," concluded the minister. "He dictates terms of discipleship. His accepted followers come without any compromises. After Christ is accepted, His providence and grace enables us to settle all questions aright."

FACED A FOREIGN FLAG.

A British Seaman's Prank That Enraged the Brazilians.

The harbor of Rio de Janeiro is one of the wonders of the world. You enter a narrow strait guarded by a towering conical mountain and discover a glorious inland sea surrounded on every side by abrupt and precipitous mountains, many of them with the most fantastic outlines. I should imagine, says the Hon. Stephen Coleridge in "Memories," that all the fleets of the world might anchor there in safety.

In the early seventies a couple of English bluejackets in search of adventure climbed to the top of the mountain that guards the entrance, hauled after them a flagstaff and a union jack, set up the pole on the summit and unfurled the flag to the breeze.

The astounded and indignant Brazilians awoke one morning to find an alien bunting flying over their territory from its most conspicuous eminence. Protesters were lodged with the English minister, who, with the utmost politeness, apologized for the thoughtless escapade of some entirely unknown persons and gravely told the Brazilian government that of course he would have no possible objection to the prompt removal of the flag and pole. The emperor, however, could find no subject in all his wide empire who would volunteer to make the ascent to the summit of the mountain, which the people of Rio de Janeiro considered unsalable.

In this embarrassing dilemma the Brazilian government determined to knock over the staff by shooting at it. The Brazilian fleet was ordered to shoot the offending pole off the top of the mountain. Either they could not train their guns to the required angle of elevation or the target was too narrow for a successful shot. At any rate, the English flag flying over the proud Brazilian city remained, braving the battle and the breeze, till it rotted

Dr. Howard Kelley of Baltimore Before House Committee at Public Hearing Today.

FACTORY IS TO BE ERECTED

Bureau of Mines Will Extract the Precious Metal From Carnolite Ore, it is Planned.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 19.—The wait of seventy-five thousand sufferers from cancer pleading for more radium was heard in the House mines committee room today.

It was a public hearing on a bill for the reservation by the government for the people of all lands containing radium-bearing ore. Dr. Howard Kelley of Baltimore told in graphic sentences how sufferers are crying "Give us more radium."

"Surgery has been our largest help," said Dr. Kelley. "Radium is curing a certain percentage, but we need more radium for investigation."

Dr. Kelley announced that he was planning to erect a factory in Denver to the extract the radium for carnolite ore to be worked by the bureau of mines. He promised to donate his practice to the government. The high prices of radium, he said, is due in part to the action of foreigners.

DISAPPEARANCE WILL STAY MYSTERY

Every Foot of Bay is Dragged and Still no Trace of Lost Submarine is Found.

DIVER MAY BE IN QUICKSAND

(By United Press.)

Plymouth, Eng., Jan. 19.—The disappearance of the submarine "A-7" and her eleven men was still a mystery today. All during the three days of the search every foot of the bottom of the bay and channels has been dragged and nothing has been found. This gave rise to the theory that quicksand has engulfed the diver. There is known to be quicksand there.

Relatives of the lost men have been on the scene since the first alarm and have refused to leave. Women relatives of the men have come from various parts of England. Naval officers fear the disappearance of "A-7" will be one of the unsolved mysteries of the sea.

MORRISTOWN LOST.

The Milroy high school basketball team defeated the Morristown high school team Friday night at Morristown 37 to 23. The Milroy team showed to advantage in defensive work. The first half was fast and the two horse teams were evenly matched. Milroy gradually pulled away in the final period and own out.

Maurice Boren narrowly escaped injury at the Case Lumber company's mills Saturday, when the knife on a wood working machine broke and tore up the machine. Parts of it flew in every direction. Mr. Boren sustained a slight flesh wound in the palm of his hand.

George H. Caldwell has sold his interest in the large bridge company with which he has been connected since locating in Decatur, Illinois, and invested in a 16,000 acre farm in Syracuse county, Kansas. His brother Frank is on the farm and George and family will be there soon. The condition of George's health makes a change of employment necessary. Both are sons of Mrs. Sarah Caldwell of this city.

A CLOSED LAND OF HIDDEN DANGERS

Only Two Americans Allowed to Dwell In Afghanistan.

LIFE THERE IS A GAMBLE.

Upon Obtaining a Permit the Traveler Is Warned That He Enters at His Own Individual Responsibility. Benighted Country Where Christianity Is Punishable by Death.

A report on industrial and living conditions in Afghanistan, which a Christian enters on pain of death, has been made to the department of commerce by United States Consul Henry D. Baker, on special commercial service in the far east.

Mr. Baker calls Afghanistan the buffer state between British India and the Russian possessions in Asia. It has an area of 200,000 square miles and a population estimated at 5,000,000, though no census has ever been taken. Its inhabitants are without exception Mohammedans, and save only Tibet, it is the largest closed country in the world, presenting the anachronism of a nation in the twentieth century which forbids the entrance into its territory of the foreign missionaries either of religion or commerce, as well as making the profession of Christianity among its subjects punishable by death.

"If any person particularly wishes to visit Afghanistan he can get into the country only by interesting the ameer personally in the object of his visit, which, however, it may be found very difficult to do," Mr. Baker says. "No commercial traveler can get into Afghanistan unless the ameer might be induced to take an interest in his particular line of business. Even then it would not be found convenient or advantageous to undertake a trip into Afghanistan unless the ameer would personally guarantee one's comfort and safety and provide a military escort to Kabul or Kandahar or wherever else it was desired to go."

Must Go at Own Risk.

"After application has been made to the ameer for a permit, or firman, to visit Afghanistan—and by having advanced some particularly potent argument the firman may perhaps be granted—the deputy secretary to the government of India in the foreign department, if he deems it wise, will then grant permission to cross the frontier at the traveler's own risk.

"A regulation letter granting such permission to a representative of a business house in Bombay, of which I have a copy, reads as follows:

"With reference to your letter dated — I am directed to inform you that the honorable chief commissioner and agent to the governor general in the northwest frontier provinces is being directed to allow Mr. — of your firm to cross the frontier subject to the production by him of his majesty the ameer's firman and the political agent in the Khyber pass being satisfied that the Afghan government has made arrangements for Mr. —'s escort and transport.

I am to add that the government of India accepts no responsibility whatever in connection with the object of Mr. —'s journey to or stay in Afghanistan and that he proceeds there at his own risk.

Few Foreigners There.

"About the only instances in which Europeans or Americans have ever been allowed to travel into Afghanistan is when machinery or other articles have been required by the ameer to his government or special medical assistance needed at the court. At present there are understood to be six Europeans and two Americans residing in the country."

Mr. Baker refers to the late Dr. T. L. Pennell, an English medical missionary, as having been the best authority on the frontier tribesmen of Afghanistan. He gained their confidence and esteem after years of effort, but the relations between the frontiersmen and the English generally are far from cordial.

STATES TO TEACH SAFETY.

Make It Part of School Course to Learn to Guard One's Life.

Two states in the middle west (Wisconsin and North Dakota), as well as one in the east (New Jersey), are embarking on plans to teach safety in the schools. Wisconsin and New Jersey have passed laws whereby safety is made a required course of study for school children, and textbooks will be used to enforce the lessons.

In North Dakota Mrs. J. E. Stevens of Grand Forks, who has been lecturing on tuberculosis throughout the state, is also urging a campaign of "watchfulness and carefulness" in an endeavor to decrease the number of accidental deaths.

"If we are going to have anything like safety for our people," says Mrs. Stevens, "it rests with the parents and the schools of our country. Until obedience and carefulness are inculcated into every generation, until 'learn today' is the first lesson of childhood, it is useless to expect children and adults to heed the signs 'Keep Off the Track,' 'Look Out For the Cars,' 'Mind Where You Step' and 'Railroad Property.'"

"Not only should the railroads take up a campaign of education in watchfulness and carefulness among their employees, but public authorities, beginning with teachers in the schools, should instill in the public mind the 'stop, look, listen' habit at every point of danger."

RUSHVILLE HAS 2 GAMES THIS WEEK

Hopes to Defeat Carthage High School Five Here and Connersville at Connersville.

SPECIAL CAR MAY BE TAKEN

The Rushville basketball team has two games scheduled for this week, and the team has hopes of recovering from its defeat at Shelbyville last Friday night and coming back with both games under its belt. The first game will be played here Friday night with the Carthage high school team and the second, Saturday night at Connersville with the high school five there.

Rushville defeated Carthage on the latter's floor, but the "Quakers" put up some stiff opposition. Not because Carthage is considered a weak opponent, but because the team managers hope to attract more high school pupils, it has been decided to admit all high school pupils for fifteen cents Friday night. If the crowd warrants the price may be continued, and if the team more than makes the expenses, the general admission will be reduced to fifteen cents. An effort will be made to get a special car for the Connersville game.

GETS ANOTHER HORSE.

Dagler Brothers have added another stallion to their string. This one comes from George Phillips of Red Key, Ind., and is five years old. As usual Dagler Brothers are making preparations for a busy spring and besides the new horse will again have Ess H. Kay (2:00 1/4) and Bingen Hall, 2 (2:27 1/4). The new stallion has won prizes at the international show in Chicago and at the Indiana State fair. The horse is dapple gray in color.

CHAPTER XXIV.

A Question and the Answer.

IN all their married life Edith Cortlandt had never known her husband to show such stubborn force. Failing to dominate him as usual, she was filled with a strange feeling of helplessness and terror.

"You had no right to accept such evidence," she stormed.

"Bah! Why try to fool me? I have your own words for it. The other afternoon I came home sick—with my head. I was on the gallery outside when you were pleading with him, and I heard it all. But he was growing tired of you. That, you know, makes it all the more effective." He smiled in an agonized fury.

"You—cur!" she cried, with the fury of one beating bareheaded at a barred door. "You had no right to do such a thing even if I were guilty."

"Right. Aren't you my wife?"

The look she gave him was heavy with loathing. "That means nothing with us. I never loved you, and you know it. You never could have succeeded without me. All you have is due to me—even your reputation in the service. Your success, your influence, it is all mine. The debt is all on your side, as you and I and all the world know."

"Who made me a mankin?" he demanded, with womanish fury, a fury that had been striving for utterance these many years. I had ambitions and hopes and ability once—not much perhaps, but enough—before you married me. I was nothing great, but I was getting along. I had confidence, too, but you took it away from me. You—you absorbed me. You had your father's brain, and it was too big for me. It overshadowed mine. In a way you were a vampire, for what I had you drained me of. But tonight, when he got up before those other men and dangled my shame before my eyes, I had enough manhood left in me to strike back. Thank God for that at least! Maybe it's not too late yet for me to be a man. Maybe if I get away from you and try—" His voice died out weakly. In his face there was a miserable half gleam of hope.

"I never knew you felt like that. I never knew you could feel that way," she said in a colorless voice. "But you made a terrible mistake."

"Do you mean to say you don't love him?"

"No, I have loved him for a long time. I can't remember when it began." She spoke very listlessly, looking past him as if at a long familiar picture which she was tired of contemplating. "I never knew what love was before; I never even dreamed. I'd give my life right now to undo what you have done, just for his sake, for he is innocent. Oh, don't sneer; it's true. He loves the Garavel girl and wants to marry her. I'm going to tell you the whole truth now without sparing myself. It began, I think, at Tagoga, that night when he kissed me. It was the only time he ever did such a thing. It was dark, we were alone, I was frightened, and it was purely impulse on his part. But it woke me up, and all at once I knew how much he meant to me. When I discovered that he cared for that girl—well, if you overheard you must know. I frightened Garavel into dismissing him, and I set out to break him, just to show him that he needed me. Tonight he scorned me. That's the truth, Stephen. If we believed in oaths I would swear it."

"You are shielding him. You want to make me out wrong." But she knew he knew.

"Those are the facts. Heaven knows they are bad enough, but they are by no means so bad as you thought. And I'm your wife, Stephen. That thing you did was brutal. Those men will talk. I was guilty no doubt in my thoughts, but I'm young, and you have no right to blight my life and my reputation—yes, and yours—by a thing like that. We will have to meet those men. What are you going to do?"

"I don't know," he said. "In all my life I never felt but one moment of power, and that, it seems, was false. For years I have longed to show myself a man, and now—what have I done? What have I done? I am no monster. Why couldn't you be consistent? Why did you go halfway? Why couldn't you be all good or all bad and save me this?"

"All women are half good and half bad."

"I can't blame you for not loving me. I suppose," he mumbled. "No woman of your kind could love a man like me."

"Those men!" she said in a way that made him writhe.

"Wait until I think. I must think."

"Perhaps in the morning we can see

a way out."

"That's it." He nodded. "You go to bed and I'll think. I'm trying to think now, but this heat is suffocating me and my head is tired."

Despite the breathless oppression of the night, she shivered. "I never can meet them now, and I don't see how you will dare to, knowing that you were wrong."

"Don't!" he pleaded. "The other was bad enough, but this—Tell me what to do!"

"I can't. I don't know myself. All I can see is that those men will never cease to believe, no matter what you tell them."

As she prepared for bed an hour later she heard him still stirring about in his quarters, but afterward she did not detect his cautious footsteps when he stole out of his chamber, closing the door softly behind him.

Kirk was roused from a heavy, senseless slumber the next morning by a vigorous rapping at his door. He opened the door and Rannels rushed in.

"Where did you go after I left you last night?"

"I came here, of course." As the memory of the previous night swept over Kirk he scowled.

"Did you stay here?"

"No. I went out again, and was out nearly all night trying to walk it off."

Rannels' face blanched, and he drew back.

"Then, of course, you know?"

"What?"

"About Cortlandt. He's dead!"

"Dead? When? Where? How did it happen?"

"Nobody knows just how. He was found on the sea wall near Alfarez's house, shot."

"Shot! Good Lord!"

"Did you see Cortlandt again after I left you?" Rannels swallowed hard.

Kirk whirled about and faced him. "Great heavens! No! See here, that idea is ridiculous!"

Rannels sank weakly into a chair and mopped his face. "When you said you'd gone out again it knocked me flat, understand?"

"I can prove where I was, for Allan was with me. I couldn't sleep, so I tried to walk off my excitement. No, no; I couldn't do a thing like that! I thought last night that I could, but I couldn't, really."

"I'm afraid Wade will tell all about the party if we don't stop him."

"Then we'd better hunt him up."

Kirk resumed his dressing, while Rannels consulted his watch.

"No. 5 is due in twenty minutes. We'll probably find him at the office."

Together they hastened to the railroad building, Rannels telling all he knew of the tragedy as they went along. Cortlandt's body, it seemed, had been found about daylight by a Spigot policeman, who had identified it. Becoming panic stricken at the importance of his discovery, he had sounded the alarm, then reported directly to the governor, whose house was close by. The whole city was alive with the news. The police were buzzing like bees. Rumors of suicide, murder, robbery, were about, but no one seemed to know anything definite.

"It was suicide," Kirk averred, with conviction. "The man was insane last night, and that accounts for what he said about me. He's been sick for a long time."

"If those boys will only keep their mouths shut," Rannels said anxiously. "There's no telling what these Spigots might do if they heard about that row."

"Cortlandt was an American."

"But it happened in Panama, and it would be their affair."

Although it was Sunday, the four young fellows who had taken part in the entertainment on the night before had gathered in the office and at the appearance of Rannels greeted him eagerly. Toward Kirk, however, they maintained a disheartening constraint.

The acting superintendent began to caution them tersely.

"It's a bad business," said Rannels. "and it's something I for one don't want to be mixed up in. I've heard rumors already about some sort of a quarrel at our party, so I'm afraid you fellows have been talking."

Wade acknowledged it recklessly. "Yes, I'll answer for my part, and I'm not going to make any promise of secrecy either."

Into the office behind them came Ramon Alfarez and two Panamanian policemen, one evidently a sergeant.

"Eh, there you are!" Alfarez cried as he caught sight of Kirk. "You are arrested!"

"What for?"

"Gentlemen, you will be so kind as to give the names, yes? The judge will desire to make inquiries regarding those supper to Senor Cortlandt last night."

At that moment the building began to shake and reverberate as No. 5 rolled in from Colon, bearing John Weeks, American consul, and Mr. Williams of St. Louis in one of the forward coaches. As the two hurried out through the turnstiles they found the street blocked by a considerable crowd, evidently interested in something quite apart from the arrival of the morning train. But before they could learn the cause out from the nearby building came Ramon Alfarez, accompanied by several policemen and a group of railroad employees, among whom was Kirk Anthony.

"There he is!" wheezed the consul, clutching at his companion's arm. "Get him now before his friends." Williams thrust the policemen and the curious onlookers aside and, laying hold of Anthony, cried in triumph:

"Well, Mr. Jefferson Locke, I want you."

A little man in blue uniform was at-

"You are arrested!"

tempting to take the prisoner in charge, but the detective disregarded him.

Rannels elbowed his way forward with a question.

"Oh, I've got a warrant for him," Williams declared. "What for? Well, for one thing, he embezzled $80,000, and I'm going to take him back."

"Eh? What is this?" Alfarez bustled into the conversation. "Embezzle? He is then a thief?"

"Exactly. If you're the inspector I'll ask you to make this arrest for me. I believe we're on foreign ground."

"I regret you 'ave arrive' so late," smirked Alfarez. "The gentleman is already arrested for the murder of Senor Cortlandt. He will first answer to that, I assure you."

It was during the lunch hour that Ramon Alfarez called at the Garavel home, finding the banker and his daughter still loitering over their midday meal and discussing the topic that had electrified the whole city.

"So fine a man," the father was saying. "He was, indeed, my good friend. It is shocking."

"Yes, and to think he should have been killed in this cowardly manner!"

"Killed! Is it believed that he was murdered?" Caramba! I supposed he had shot himself. That was the gossip an hour ago."

"Upon leaving the Tivoli last night Senor Cortlandt dined with six of his friends at the Central. There was drinking. The waiters have been questioned; also one of the men who was present has recounted to me what occurred. It seems that for a long time Senor Cortlandt has been jealous of his wife. Cortlandt openly accused his enemy before all the others. It was most dramatic, it was terrible! There was a scene of violence. The other man made threats."

Garavel breathed an incredulous exclamation.

"Ah, but wait! It was Senor Cortlandt's best friend, too, the man for whom he had accomplished many favors, whom he accused." He noted with mingled anger and satisfaction the pallor that was creeping into the girl's cheeks. "You would never guess. It was I hesitated, and yet you are bound to learn, my dear friends—it was this Anthony."

"It is a lie!" said the girl quietly. "He loved no one but me."

"Gertrudis!" The banker was shocked beyond measure at what he considered his daughter's jealousy. "Those are not nice words."

"I do not believe it."

Ramon had not counted upon such a spirit, and his anger getting the better of him, he sneered: "I should not have spoken. I did not know you still care."

"She does not care," Garavel declared loudly.

"Ah, but I do. I love him very dearly."

The two men were upon their feet in an instant, staring at her, the elder in amazement, the younger with rage and resentment blazing from his countenance.

"Silence!" thundered the banker. "Yonder stands your affianced husband."

"It is a mistake!" she persisted gently.

"No, no, no! There is no mistake," chattered Ramon. "Those other men have told all, and your Anthony is now in the carcel under guard. It was I who saw to his arrest. Nor is that all. He is not at all the man he pretended to be, even his name is false. This morning there arrived an American officer of police to arrest him on other charges. He is a thief, it seems, having stolen $80,000 gold from his employers. Oh, there is no mistake. Within the hour I have been talking with this detective, and he has the papers of proof. Is not that enough?"

"It is, indeed!" gasped the father.

"But it is not true," maintained the girl simply, and her eyes were as steady as altar flames. "Take me to him, please. I must go at once to the carcel."

But he only answered her with a stare of amazement. "Go!" he murmured, after an instant. "Have I lost my senses?"

"Yes, I must go, for he is my husband. We were wed last night."

"Mother of God!" the banker ejaculated hoarsely, and sank into the seat from which he had arisen. Ramon was staring from one to the other, his head turning jerkily.

"Oh, yes! The judge from Colon married us during the dance. I would have liked a church wedding, but that will come later. The Senor Rannels and his wife were there also, and they will tell you. It made me very happy." Her face was transfigured by a look that left the two men no choice but to believe.

"A civil marriage!" stammered Ramon.

"A civil marriage, indeed!" said Garavel in a choking voice. "So that is where you were when I believed you to be dancing! But I will not have it, understand! You are betrothed. You have given your word to Ramon."

"Ah, but I never loved him. You compelled me to consent because you said you could not be president unless I married him. And that was not so. Ramon deceived you. Now it is all right. You will be president, and I can be happy."

Ramon's suspicion kindled on the instant. He turned upon the banker. "So I begin to see! That was a trick, then, to betray my father."

"But wait!" Gertrudis exclaimed sharply. "Did you not trick us also? Did you not use the general, your father, to make me give up the man I love? Which of us, then, is the better?"

Andres Garavel spoke threateningly, menacingly, to his daughter.

"It was no marriage, and it will not stand. I will have it annulled. The man was a criminal, a fugitive, even when he forced you to marry."

"No, no! You cannot do that. It was I who asked him to marry me."

The girl lied tremulously, panic stricken at the threat. "Before God, I am his wife!" she maintained. "And if this marriage has a flaw then I will stand beside the prison gates and remarry him as he comes forth."

"He will not come forth," Ramon declared harshly.

"Oh, yes! And now will you take me to him?"

"No!" her father bellowed. "You are my daughter, you are under my roof, and here you shall stay until you give up this madness and this man. I forbid you to go near him. Come! Do you promise?" She inclined her dark head. "I must learn more of this affair at once. You will find your senses, miss, or if you do not you will spend your life in meditation and prayer—that much I promise you."

"I do not wish to enter a convent," she said, with white lips. "I wish to be happy. When Keerk is free I shall go to him. Now, if you please, I think I shall go away." She turned and went out of the big high ceilinged room, and not until she had reached the hall did her feet waver or her head droop.

SUPPLEMENTAL LEGISLATION

Will Be Required to Render Seventeenth Amendment Effective.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The senate election committee, 7 to 3, voted to recommend that Blair Lee, a Democrat, be seated in the senate to succeed Senator Jackson, Republican, of Maryland, and, by a vote of 9 to 1, determined to report adversely on the credentials of Frank P. Glass, appointed to succeed the late Senator Johnston of Alabama.

The committee's action, if sustained by the senate, determines that the seventeenth amendment is not in effect without supplemental legislation, and that the legislatures of the states must direct the governor as to the method of filling vacancies.

DELAWARE & HUDSON TIED UP BY STRIKE

Five Thousand Men Give Up Work Under Orders.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—In the operating department five thousand employees of the Delaware and Hudson railroad are on strike, tying up the whole Delaware and Hudson system from Rouses Point, N. Y., near the Canadian border, to Wilkesbarre, Pa., including several branch lines. Trains on the road at the time the order took effect this morning were taken to their division terminals so that there would be as little inconvenience to travelers and the mail service as possible.

The strike was ordered by the men's union representatives after negotiations begun in early December, failed to bring about an amicable settlement. The men say that the strike will be called off if two men are reinstated and that other grievances about back pay will be arbitrated.

HONORED BY THE KAISER

Commander in Charge at Zabern Receives the Red Eagle.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The kaiser has conferred the decoration of the Red Eagle of the third class on Colonel Von Reuter, the commander of the Ninety-ninth regiment, who was recently tried by and acquitted by a court martial of charges overstepping his authority as an army officer while his regiment was at Zabern. The officers of this regiment were responsible for the recent troubles at Zabern.

Forger's Sentence Suspended.

Tipton, Ind., Jan. 19.—O. S. Akers, arrested on charges of forgery, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to from two to fourteen years at Michigan City. The prison sentence was suspended upon Akers' promise to take up his worthless paper as fast as possible. Akers, who was proprietor of the Tipton Music company, became financially involved last spring and in an effort to keep his business going forged several names to notes.

"MOST MEN FALL AT FORTY."

"More Orthodoxy in Jail Than Church," Assertions of "Pastor Vigilante." Preaching in Chicago recently, the Rev. William Rader of San Francisco said: "More men fall into sin at forty than at twenty years of age. 'It is time we stopped slandering the working girl and directed our missionary efforts toward the fashionable rich, who clink their wineglasses.' 'I've found more orthodoxy in penitentiaries than I have in the churches.' The Rev. Mr. Rader formerly was a Presbyterian minister and during the fight on graft in San Francisco was known as the 'pastor vigilante.'"

Liquor in Furniture. Almost every conceivable method has been employed to introduce liquor into the Indian country of Oklahoma from Fort Smith, Ark., but United States marshals lately discovered two new schemes. In the drawers of a washstand and dresser consigned to a company at Barnett, Okla., sixty quarts of whisky were found. Inside a barrel of salt was a ten gallon keg.

Ducks Mosquitoes' Foes. "The most effective method of exterminating mosquitoes," says Dr. Gebbing, director of the Leipzig zoological garden, "is to keep wild ducks on the ponds where they breed. These birds feed eagerly upon all insect life in the larva state, and where there are plenty of ducks very few of the larvae reach the glories of mosquitohood, even in the most stagnant pools."

FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, Has Found a Remedy.

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions usually go together.

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, says: "I had a bad stomach trouble for years, and became so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking 'Vinol' I find a remarkable improvement in my health, my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight. I would not be without Vinol."

Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.
